Before Your Visit

Game credentials are issued through the sports information office. Ivan Meltzer will coordinate the distribution of credentials and he asks that requests be made in writing on company letterhead at least four days prior to the game. It is perfectly acceptable to relay a credential request via fax. Our fax number is (301) 314-9094. When a request is received well in advance, the credential and an appropriate parking pass will be mailed to the media representative.

Photographers, too, need to make their requests for credentials at least four days in advance. Again, faxed requests are fine. Photographers should note that the Cole Field House lights are color balanced for daylight. An exposure setting of /250 at f2.8 has been found to work well with ASA 400 film and normal processing. On occasion, strobe lights can be installed in Cole; however, arrangements must be made with Ivan at least two weeks in advance of the game and space is available on a first come, first served basis.

Telephone lines can be ordered for courtside seats by contacting Dan Giffin of the athletic department facilities office at (301) 314-7126. He will arrange to have your line installed at your seat location. Telephones must be ordered at least two weeks in advance.

General Interview Policy

Interviews with student-athletes must be arranged through the sports information office. Either Ivan, Joe Blair or Herb Hartnett will be happy to set up one-on-one interviews. They do request, however, 24 hours advance notice to insure the student-athlete's availability. This one-day notice policy also holds for brief pre-practice interviews. The student-athletes' class schedules vary daily and often particular individuals are not available prior to practice. In those instances, student-athletes will be made available after practice. Student-athletes will return phone calls when requested. Their home phone numbers will not be distributed. Interviews will not be arranged through the basketball office.

Interviews with Coach Gary Williams also should be arranged in advance through the sports information office. Coach Williams typically returns phone calls in the early afternoon hours. Coach will make himself available for brief interviews on the court each day prior to practice.

Coach Williams also is available each Tuesday, beginning December 29, from 11:40 - 11:50 a.m. as part of the ACC Coaches' Teleconference. Members of the media wishing to join the teleconference should dial (703) 276-4310.

Practices are open to the media with few exceptions. The team generally practices from 3 to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. Weekend practice schedules vary and if media representatives wish to come out on weekends they should contact the sports information office ahead of time. Still and electronic photographers are welcome provided they do not interfere with practice.

Game Day

Press Parking will again be on the concourse of Byrd Stadium. Access to the concourse is through the Auto Gate adjacent to the South Gate directly behind the press box. Access is via pass only.

Press credentials that were not mailed are left at will call at the press entrance located at the back door of Cole Field House inside the service parking area on Stadium Drive.

There is a working press room one level above the court in the refurbished press lounge. Pre-game and halftime food and beverage service is available in the lounge, as are all pre-game notes, media guides and auxiliary media information.

Press seating is located along the west sideline of the court. Photographers' floor access is governed by Atlantic Coast Conference policy. Photographers, both still and electronic, must shoot from the baselines at the Northwest (Maryland team bench end/press row side) and Southeast corners of the court. When the visiting team does not travel with cheerleaders, the Southwest side will be open to photographers as well. Please note that only game photographers — no assistants, producers, runners, etc. — will have access to the photography areas.

Post-game coaches interviews are held in the cozy basketball film room, adjacent to the Maryland lockerroom. Coaches from both competing teams are brought to the interview area. Maryland's Coach Williams will be brought to the interview area immediately after he delivers a few brief remarks to his team, and he will be followed by the opponent's coach. The Maryland lockerroom is open to all credentialed media for a brief period immediately after Coach Williams concludes his comments to the media. The visiting team's lockerroom access policy is determined by officials of that school.

Statistics packets, including running play-by-play, first half and final boxscores and post-game coaches quotes are compiled following every Maryland game and made available to the media both at press row and in the media lounge.

Editorial assistance and recommendations provided by the entire sports information staff — Herb Hartnett, joe f. blair, and Chuck Walsh. Special thanks to the sports information student staff — Amy Farnum, and David Gell. Special thanks also to staff assistant Vanessa Abell. Layout and design by Dave Pfieffer of Presstar Printing, Inc., who after five years of work with the athletic department still manages to impress and amaze with every project. The media guide was printed at Colonial Lithograph in Attleboro, Mass., whose owner Charlie Guillette continues to show more patience with the SID office than it rightfully deserves. Special thanks also to Cathy La Salandra, Dave Redding, Craig Jordan, Roger Boucher and Paul Mendes of Colonial Litho. The sports information office is indebted to several photographers whose work appears in this publication — Lisa Helfert, Katie Zernhelt, Edwin Mahan, Bruce Schwartzman, Bob Donnan, Lars Gelfan, Larry Crouse, Mitchell Layton, Jeff Fishbein, Brian Lewis, Phil Masturzo, Doug Pennsinger and Dave Yoblick. As always, the sports information office is indebted to the University's Paula Mandelman for her assistance.

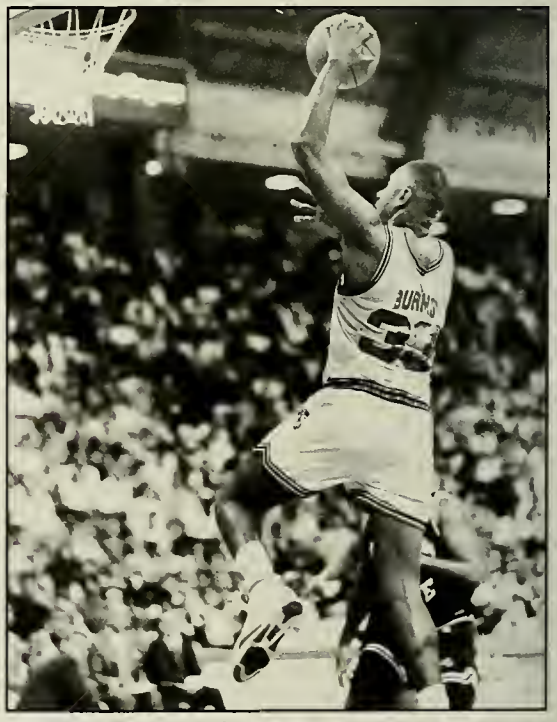
The Terps of 1992-93 are Off and Running. After three seasons of overachievement under Gary Williams' tutelage, the University of Maryland this year will put on the floor one of the deepest, most talented teams in recent history. For the first time since Williams accepted the head coaching position at his alma mater in 1989, he has the type of players he covets to run the fast-break, fullcourt pressing style that has become his coaching signature.

Maryland will try to offset the graduation of one of the greatest players in the program's history, Walt Williams, with the entrance of one of the most heralded recruiting classes of all time.

This year, the Terps will blend the talents of three established seniors with what is arguably the school's best class of incoming freshmen since the group that included All-Americans Tom McMillen and Len Elmore.

The Terps will be without the services of 1992 All-America Walt Williams and his ACC-best 26.8 points per game. Williams was a first team All-ACC pick last year and the No. 7 pick in the NBA Draft. Williams graduated, as did Vince Broadnax, a starter at small forward last year and arguably the best one-on-one defender in the ACC in 1991-92.



1992-93 Team Co-Captain Evers Burns.

Terp Notes

NCAA Sanctions a Thing of the Past

The 1992-93 competitive season marks a new beginning of sorts for the Maryland Terrapins and Coach Gary Williams. For the first time in Williams' tenure, the Terps are playing this year without the spectra of any NCAA sanctions hanging over the program. The Terps, for the first time since 1990, are eligible for all post-season tournaments, including the NCAA Championship Tournament. The Terps also will be frequent attractions on live television this season. No less than 15 Maryland games this year will be shown by live regional or national broadcast.

A Summer Abroad

Kurtis Shultz spent the first two weeks of August traveling throughout Germany and Belgium as part of the ACC All-Stars. Each summer the ACC picks a representative all-star team to travel abroad for a series of exhibition games. This summer, the league's contingent finished with a 4-3 record. Schultz played exceptionally well during the tour. In the team's fourth game, against Germany's Graydon Club, he scored a team-high 20 points in an 85-77 ACC win.

Teammates Spread Across the Country

Johnny Rhodes attended Maine Central Institute, a prep school in Pittsfield, Me., last year. Rhodes was one of 10 players on the MCI squad, and all 10 are now enrolled in Division I schools and will be playing college basketball this season. In fact, in the last three years, MCI Coach Max Good has had all 30 of his players go on to Division I programs. The alums of the MCI Class of '92 can be found this year at Maryland (Rhodes), Navy (Billy Butler), Arizona (Etrick Bohannon), Southern Cal (Dan Bouie), Old Dominion (Mario Mullen), Cornell (Pax Whitehead), Central Michigan (Tory Mills), Florida State (Derrick Carroll) and St. Joseph's (Reggie Townsend and Mark Pass).

The remaining returning starters — Evers Burns and Chris Kerwin in the frontcourt, and Kevin McLinton in the backcourt — and a five-deep incoming rookie class will look to lead Maryland into the post-season. The Terps are eligible for post-season play in 1992-93 for the first time in three seasons.

Burns was one of the most improved players in the league last year, averaging 15.9 points a game. He is the Terps' likely starter at either power forward or center, depending on the continued development of Kerwin (4.1 ppg as the starting center). McLinton, who has played both backcourt positions during his college career, will again be a mainstay somewhere in the backcourt. He averaged 11.8 points and 5.3 assists per game from the point last year.

Whether McLinton again assumes the point guard duties or moves to the off guard will depend on the development of the Terps' highly-touted freshmen class. Ranked in everybody's top five, and most often listed with Kentucky's class as one of the top two recruiting hauls in the country, Maryland's Class of '96 brings talent to the program at every position.

Terp Notes

Terp Take-A-Ways

Last season, Maryland led the ACC in turnover margin, with a plus 3.7 per game rate. Only six times all last season did the Terps commit more turnovers than their opponents. The Terps had a particular fondness for taking care of the ball against Clemson last season. In three games against the Tigers, Maryland averaged a paltry 8.0 turnovers a game. The Terps turned it over a season-low six times against the Tigers in the first round of the ACC Tournament.

The 80-Point Mark

Under Gary Williams, Maryland is 38-12 in games when it scores 80 or more points. Last season, the Terps were 11-4 when they hit the 80-point plateau.

High Scoring Terps

Anyone needing further proof about the scoring capabilities of Gary Williams' style of offense need only look at the Terps' final season averages. All three of Williams' Terps squads have finished the year ranked among the top 10 most prolific scoring teams in school history. The Terps of 1991-92 averaged an even 81.0 points per game, the seventh-best season average ever.

Burns Among ACC's Top Returnees

There is little question that Maryland senior Evers Burns is one of the top returning front court performers in the ACC. Burns, in fact, is one of only two players (Wake's Rodney Rogers is the other) to rank among the league's top seven returnees in the following categories: scoring (4th-best returnee), field goal percentage (6th-best returnee) and rebounding (7th-best returnee).

1992-93 Team Co-Captain Kevin McLinton.

Time for a New Nickname

After spending his summer attending school and working out in the weight room, senior Chris Kerwin may have to find a new nickname. As a 6-10, 210-pound wisp of center, Kerwin answered to the name Stick last season. After practically living in the weight room and adding no less than 25 pounds of muscle this summer, the 235-pounder appears to be quickly building an ACC center's body, and is obviously ready to shed the handle "Stick".

Terps Fab Five

Much was made last year about the University of Michigan's five-member freshman class. Dubbed the Fab Five, the Wolverine quintet was unique in that it featured one player at each of the established court positions, and all five had the talent to play extensive minutes as freshmen. The Terps' incoming freshmen are a version of the Fab Five. Each of the players is likely to play one particular position on the court, and each is good enough that seeing them all on the floor together is not out of the realm of possibility. Consider this talented, if young, line-up. At forwards: Mario Lucas and Exree Hipp; at center: Nemanja Petrovic; and at the guards: Duane Simpkins and Johnny Rhodes.

McLinton Among Top Active Free Throw Shooters

With a career free throw shooting percentage of .748, Kevin McLinton is fourth among active ACC players in free throw accuracy. McLinton trails only Randolph Childress, Bobby Hurley and Chuck Graham among the ACC's most accurate from The Stripe. McLinton, who shot 78.0 percent from the line in 1991-92, also had one of the league's biggest one-year improvements in free throw percentage. After shooting .686 from the line as a sophomore, McLinton improved by +.094 in percentage last season — the fourth-best improvement in the ACC.

Alan Rainge

Chris Kerwin

Point Guard Duane Simpkins is a two-time Parade All-America and could be given on-court control of the Terps from Day One. At the very least, he and McLinton will likely share point guard duties this coming season.

Swing guard Johnny Rhodes is the most heralded backcourt prospect to come to Maryland since John Lucas began performing his wizardry in Cole Field House. Rhodes has been picked as the preseason favorite for ACC Rookie of the Year by several publications. Rhodes and fellow freshman swing forward Exree Hipp — both have vertical jumps in the 35-inch range — are expected to develop into one of the most exciting duos in the ACC. Hipp was the Capital Area's Mr. Basketball last year, while Rhodes won the honor in 1991.

Add to that quick, potentially-high scoring backcourt talent frontcourt standouts Mario Lucas (6-7, power forward) and Yugoslavia's Nemanja Petrovic (6-10, forward/center), and Maryland has a potential "starting five" down the road.

With front court returnees John Walsh, Mike Thibeault (both coming off successful off-season back surgery) and Kurtis Shultz, who was a standout on the ACC European All-Star Team this summer, there are plenty of interchangeable parts to hit the boards and play tough low-post defense.

The talented backcourt will be bolstered by returning sophomores Wayne Bristol and Alan Rainge, who are expected to vie for time at the off guard and point guard, respectively.

"We have three seniors who we know we can count on and several other players who saw significant minutes last year, so we won't have to rely on the freshmen at the start," says Williams. "But we also realize this is the most talented class we've brought to Maryland and we expect them to contribute this year."

Mike Thibeault

Terp Notes

Terps Usually Keep it Close

With his Terps embroiled in 14 "close" games last year and 26 in the last two seasons, it is no wonder Maryland Coach Gary Williams has raised sideline pacing to an art form. Only Virginia (with 33) has had more close games than the Terps in the last two years. A close game is defined as any game in which the two teams were within five points of each other with five minutes to play, as well as games decided by five or fewer points and all overtimes games. Last year, Maryland was 7-7 in its close games. In 1990-91, the Terps were 9-3 in close games, posting the best winning percentage of any ACC school in such games.

Baltimore Game is First in Six Years

The Terps will play host to the Oklahoma Sooners, January 19, in Baltimore Arena this season. The game will mark the first time Maryland has played in the state's largest city since opening the 1987-88 season there in the MCI Harbor Classic. Maryland won both of its games in the MCI tournament that year, defeating Loyola, 74-60, and Mississippi, 77-69.

Looking for No. 50 and other Coming Milestones

Win No. 1 for Maryland this season will be win No. 50 as the Terps head coach for Gary Williams. In three seasons at the helm, Williams has compiled a 49-41 record as a Terp. Williams also will coach his 450th career game this season. That milestone game will come at raucous Cameron Indoor Stadium, when Maryland travels to Duke, March 3. Williams' 100th game as the Terps' coach will come in the Terps ACC home opener against Georgia Tech, Janurary 5. That game against Tech also could be the Terps' 250th ACC win. Maryland enters the 1992-93 season with 249 conference victories, dating back to the 1953-54 season.

Home Grown Staff ...

Every member of the University of Maryland basketball coaching staff has ties to this area of the country that extend far beyond their current employment. Head Coach Gary Williams and assistant Billy Hahn both are graduates of Maryland. Assistant coach Art Perry was born and raised in Washington, D.C. and spent several years at American University. Assistant coach Jimmy Patsos attended near-by Catholic University and began his coaching career at local Carroll High School.

... Home Grown Team

Given the basketball staff's familiarity with this area, it is not surprising that the Terps' roster has a significant local flavor. Of the 13 players who comprise the current Maryland basketball roster, eight played their high school hoops in or around the Baltimore-Washington Corridor.

Sophomore, Guard
Beltsville, Maryland

On Bristol — Gained valuable experience last year as one of the first guards off the bench ... he is as quick as any player in the program, and he possesses a tremendously explosive first step to the basket ... he will see the majority of his playing time at the off guard position ... he earned high praise from the coaches for his defensive efforts ... his offensive intensity increased as the season developed and as he became more familiar with the offense ... he possesses one of the surest outside shots on the team and will be a key member of Maryland's three-point shooting corps ... As a Freshman — Played in 23 games, tying John Walsh for the most appearances among the freshmen ... he scored a career high nine points at Louisville ... all of his points came in a furious nine-minute stretch late in the game as Maryland tried to mount a comeback ... had eight points in an overtime loss to Florida State, his three-point attempt to win the game at the end of regulation just missing the mark ... made the most of his time in his first ACC Tournament, scoring four points in just six minutes against Clemson ... he played the second most minutes of any freshman on the team ... High School — Played at High Point High School ... he averaged 22.3 points and 7.1 rebounds a game as a senior and led High Point to the County championship and second place in the Region ... he was a unanimous All-Met selection after his senior season, and was runner-up for Player of the Year by the Washington Post ... he was the Prince George's Journal Player of the Year ... he graduated as the school's all-time leading scorer with 1,234 career points ... he had back-to-back 500-point seasons with 536 as a senior and 500 as a junior ... he played for the Capital All-Stars in the annual Capital Classic ... he led High Point to three straight County titles, a first in Prince George's County schoolboy history ... more impressively, he led unheralded High Point to a State Championship his sophomore year and the State runner-up as a junior ... he averaged 19.6 points a game as a junior, playing in the same lineup with former Duke center Christian Ast ... in three varsity seasons, he led HPHS to a 66-10 overall record ... his high school coach was Ernie Welsh ... Personal — Born January 24, 1973 ... his full name is Wayne Cecil Bristol ... he has yet to decide on a major.

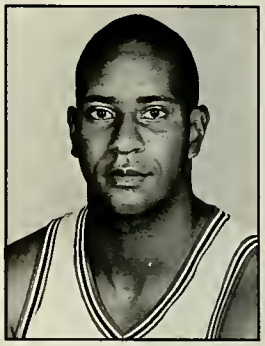
Burns



EVERS BURNS
#33
Senior,
Forward/Center
6-8, 260
Baltimore, Maryland

On Burns — The Terps' top returning scorer and rebounder and their most likely candidate for post-season honors ... he narrowly missed earning recognition as All-ACC last season and is certainly a viable candidate as a senior ... he is the ACC's No. 5 returning scorer and its No. 7 returning rebounder ... behind his easy-going, effervescent personality is a determined, intense competitor, who is among the league's strongest players ... with increased work in the weight room and on conditioning, he could develop into one of the most punishing players in the league ... he will see action at both the power forward and center positions ... he runs the floor well and has good hands for his size ... a lefty, he also has an accurate shooting touch from 15 feet ... his baseline turnaround jumper became his signature shot last season ... As a Junior — Started all 29 games ... he averaged 15.9 points and 7.1 rebounds a game ... his scoring total was second on the team and 10th best in the ACC, while his rebounding was tops for the Terps and 10th overall in the league ... he scored in double figures in all but two contests, leading the team in scoring three times ... he led the team in rebounding 13 times ... he totaled five double-doubles (points-rebounds) ... finished the year in style, scoring a career-high 25 points in the season finale against Duke in the ACC Tournament ... in fact, he was playing his best ball of the season as the year closed ... he scored 20 or more points in six games, including three of the last five of the season ... his career-high 15 rebounds vs. Clemson was the most by a Terp in 1991-92 ... he led the team in field goal accuracy, shooting 51.6 percent, the eighth-best percentage in the ACC ... he shot 50 percent or better in 17 games, 60 percent or better nine times, and 70 percent or better on three occasions ... he was one of four Terps who played more than 900 total minutes ... As a Sophomore — Played in all 28 games, starting two ... he averaged 7.7 points and 3.7 rebounds, the sixth best averages on the team ... he shot 43.7 percent from the field and 56.8 percent from the line ... his 26 steals on the year was the fourth best total on the team ... he scored in double figures seven times, including a season-high 16 point effort in Maryland's ECAC Holiday Festival win over Rutgers ... his 14-point, eight-rebound effort against Georgia Tech was a key reason for the Terps upset win ... the eight boards against Tech led the team and he also had team-high rebounding honors against UMBC with eight ... As a Freshman — Saw the most playing time of any freshman during the 1989-90 campaign ... he played in 28 games and averaged 4.3 points and 2.7 rebounds a game ... both of those averages were sixth best on the team ... he shot .543 from the field and was perfect from three-point distance (1-1) ... he worked hard at both ends of the floor, grabbing 31 offensive rebounds and 44 defensive ... High School — Played at Woodlawn High School ... he was a two-sport prep star, excelling as a basketball forward/center and a football tight end ... as a senior in 1988-89, he led WHS to a 20-3 record and a berth in the state tournament semifinals ... during his sophomore and junior seasons, Woodlawn advanced to the regional semifinals ... as a senior, he averaged 16 points, 8.5 rebounds and three blocks per game, earning all-Baltimore County and all-Met by the Baltimore Sun and honorable mention All-America honors ... he shot 52 percent from the field and 86 percent from the line ... while his basketball numbers were impressive, his football totals were even more outstanding ... he played both ways for the Woodlawn football team, as a tight end and defensive end ... on offense, he had 29 receptions for 15 touchdowns and averaged just over 20 yards per catch as a senior ... those numbers earned him football prep All-America honors and had him coveted by a number of powerhouse college football programs ... not surprisingly, he was Woodlawn's Outstanding Male Athlete ... Personal — Born August 24, 1971 ... his full name is Evers Allen Burns ... currently he is following a business curriculum ... Evers father, Emmett, is the National Life Membership Director of the NAACP in Baltimore ... his older brother, Emmett, Jr., played fullback at Temple and his brother, Engel, attended Howard University ... his cousin is former Maryland great Len Elmore.

#25
Senior, Center
6-10, 234
West Palm Beach, Florida

On Kerwin — If off-season conditioning is any indication, he is likely to lay claim to the title of Most Improved Terp ... he has been a tireless worker in the weightroom and has put on close to 20 pounds of muscle since the end of last season ... he has always been a fearless player, who last year found himself competing against more physically developed opponents ... this season he may have the bulk to back-up his tenacity ... he possesses decent post moves and has terrific form on his mid-range jumper ... his timing and coordination are excellent for a player his size ... As a Junior — Played in all 29 games, starting the final 16 ... in his first year in the ACC, he proved he is capable of playing in this league ... he had to make the transition from sixth-man to starter quickly with the season-ending injury to Garfield Smith ... he averaged 4.1 points and 4.9 rebounds, the latter figure was fourth-best on the team ... he scored in double figures three times, scoring his career high of 11 points against both Florida State and N.C. State ... his career high of 13 rebounds came against Wake Forest ... he led the team in rebounding in five games ... despite being outweighed by up to 30 pounds versus his opponent every game, he proved to be a durable starter, playing at least 30 minutes in half of his 16 starts ... he shot at least 67 percent from the floor in 13 games, and shot an even 50 percent for the year ... he led the team in blocked shots with 31, and his 1.1 blocks per game was eighth best in the ACC ... At Old Dominion — Transferred from ODU after two seasons ... he sat out of competition during the 1990-91 season per NCAA transfer guidelines ... he was the primary back-up to All-Sun Belt Conference center Chris Gatlin at ODU ... averaged two points and two rebounds a game as a sophomore for the Monarchs ... he was recruited to ODU by then-Monarch's assistant coach Art Perry, who is now an assistant at Maryland ... High School — Played at Santaluces High School ... played two years at West Palm Beach high school after beginning his varsity career in White Fish Bay, Wisconsin ... averaged 15 points and 11 rebounds a game as a senior at Santaluces ... his high school coach was Willie Gibson ... Personal — Born 2/21/70 ... his full name is Christopher Daniel Kerwin ... he is the youngest of seven children ... his six siblings — three brothers, three sisters — all were competitive swimmers ... he is majoring in criminal justice.

KEVIN McLINTON
#22
Senior, Guard
6-3, 218
Silver Spring, Maryland

On McLinton — He has spent three season silencing critics who suggested he didn't belong in the ACC and now enters his final collegiate campaign as one of the best all-around guards in the league ... he is a wonderful natural athlete whose strength and strong upper body allow him to play much "bigger" than his listed height ... he has played the point guard position with aplomb and has also seen time at the off guard ... this year, he may add some time at the small forward ... offensively, he is at his best driving to the bucket, where his solid frame makes him hard to knock off course ... in the last two years, he has proven an excellent point guard, running the Terps swift, full-court show with a deft hand ... As a Junior — Started all 29 games ... he was the team's third leading scorer at 11.8 points per game, its fourth leading rebounder at 4.9 boards a game, and its top assist maker at 5.3 assists per game ... his assist average was the sixth best in the ACC ... his team-leading 78.1 percent free throw shooting was fifth-best in the league, while his 999 minutes was the second most on the Terps and the 10th-best total in the ACC ... he had one of the best games of any collegian last year when the Terps visited Cameron Indoor Stadium to play top-ranked Duke ... in that game, he scored 25 points (on 10 of 14 field goal shooting) and dished for 11 assists in 39 minutes ... in fact, in Maryland's three games against the Blue Devils last year, McLinton averaged 20.3 points, 8.7 assists and 3.3 rebounds a game ... he scored in double figures in 18 games and dished for at least seven assists in 10 games ... he had several outstanding performances besides his exploits against Duke ... at N.C. State, he totaled 19 points, 10 rebounds and seven assists ... As a Sophomore — Played in all 28 games, starting 23 ... early in the season he switched between both guard positions, but when Walt Williams was injured midway through the year, McLinton became the Terps starting point guard ... his development at the point was a major factor in Maryland's surprisingly successful 16-12 campaign ... he scored in double figures eight times, rebounded in double figures once and dished for double digits in assists one time ... he scored a season high 21 points against North Carolina ... his season-high 10 rebounds came at West Virginia, where he had a season-high seven offensive boards ... his 12 assists against N.C. State was a career best and the second best game total in school history ... after taking over for Walt Williams at the point, McLinton averaged 7.4 points, 5.2 assists and only 4.0 turnovers a game ... his 123 total assists led the 1990-91 Terps, while he was second on the team in steals (39), fifth in scoring (7.8 ppg) and seventh in rebounding (3.4 rpg) ... he shot 43.7 percent from the field and 68.6 percent from the line ... As a Freshman — Played in six games, starting three in 1989-90 before a stress fracture in his left leg forced him from the line-up ... he missed the rest of the season, using the spring semester to rehabilitate the leg ... in his six games of active duty, however, he showed tremendous promise ... he opened his collegiate career with an eight-point, seven-assist performance against Delaware State ... two nights later, against Augusta, he scored a season-high 10 points, going eight of nine from the line ... for the year, he averaged 3.7 points and 2.8 assists a game ... High School — Played at Springbrook High School ... he led SHS to a 43-6 two-year record and one state championship (1987-88 season) ... in his first year of varsity he started at power forward, averaged 12 points a game and led the team to the state title ... then as a senior, he was moved to point guard, where he directed the offense while scoring 19.5 points a game and adding seven rebounds and five assists an outing ... he also led the team in steals, field goal percentage (.550) and free throw percentage (.750) ... he was named to the Montgomery Journal's all-Metropolitan team and was a second team selection on the Washington Post's all-Met team ... McLinton has given all-new meaning to the term beginners luck: In his first year of varsity basketball (1987-88), he led Springbrook to the state title, then in the fall of 1988, his first season as part of an organized football team, he led Springbrook to the state football title ... in that football championship game, played at Maryland's Byrd Stadium, he returned an interception 99 yards for the clinching touchdown ... he played his high school basketball for Coach John Barrett, a Maryland graduate ... Personal — Born August 28, 1971 ... his full name is Kevin Dennard McLinton ... he is majoring in business ... his brother, Darren, will be a freshman on the James Madison basketball team this season ... his father is the former Washington Redskins all-star middle linebacker Harold McLinton, who tragically died in an accident in 1980.

#32
Sophomore, Guard
6-2, 196
Pontiac, Michigan

On Rainge — A player who is among the best athletes on the team, but still is making the transition to his college position ... he is an excellent leaper and quite strong for his size ... he could see action at either guard position, but the coaching staff would like to see him develop his point guard skills ... with the graduation of Walt Williams and Matt Downing, the Terps have only three true point guards on the roster — Kevin McLinton, Duane Simpkins and Rainge ... As a Freshman — Played in nine ballgames, and averaged 1.6 points and 0.3 rebounds per game ... had his best outing against Maryland-Eastern Shore, scoring six points in just seven minutes ... his longest stint of the season came against UNC-Greensboro, when he logged 10 minutes ... for the season, he shot 46 percent from the field (five of 11) and 67 percent from the line (four of six) ... High School — Played at Pontiac Central ... a three-year starter, he was the team's leading scorer each season ... as a senior, he averaged 21.5 points, six rebounds and eight assists a game, leading Central to the regional playoffs ... he averaged 19 points as a junior and 17 as a sophomore ... he was team captain as a junior and senior and earned first team all-state honors after his senior season ... he was an honorable mention selection on the McDonald's All-America Team ... he also was an all-Met pick, which included metropolitan Detroit ... he hails from the same high school that produced former college and professional great Campy Russell ... he was ranked among the top 250 high school seniors in the nation by Bob Gibbons ... he played in the same AAU league with other Detroit area stars like: Chris Webber and Jalen Rose (both of Michigan) and Voshon Lenard (of Minnesota) ... Personal — Born December 12, 1972 ... his full name is Alan Omar Rainge ... his brother, Louis, played basketball at the University of Detriot, and his sister, Ebony, at 6-1 1/2 already is playing for the Pontiac Central girls varsity at the tender age of 16.

KURTIS SHULTZ
#55
Sophomore, Forward
6-5, 234
Randallstown, Maryland

On Shultz — Easily the strongest player on the squad ... his strength allows him to play much bigger inside than a typical 6-5 player ... he proved his could be an effective rebounder and low post defender ... he possesses as surprisingly accurate outside shot and is an excellent foul shooter ... he is extremely coachable ... he spent this past summer playing with the ACC All-Stars on the league's annual European Tour ... As a Freshman — Played in 15 games, including six of the last eight ... he averaged 0.8 points and 0.7 rebounds a game ... by season's end, he was the second front court player off the bench after John Walsh ... his best outing of the year came in Maryland's ACC Tournament win over Clemson, when he was six of six from the line and finished the game with six points, four rebounds, one assist and one steal in 12 minutes of action ... in that Clemson game, both Evers Burns and Chris Kerwin had three first-half fouls and eventually both fouled out of the game, necessitating that Shultz see more playing time late in that close game than in any similar circumstance all season ... he also effectively subbed for foul-plagued Burns and Kerwin in the Terps' huge win at Florida State, recording a season-high 13 minutes ... he scored three points and grabbed two rebounds in 10 minutes versus UNC-Greensboro ... High School — Played his final two seasons at DeMatha High School ... he began his prep career at McDonough High in Baltimore, but transferred to DeMatha after two seasons ... he led the Stags to a third place city finish as a junior and the city's No. 2 spot as a senior, when he averaged 12 points and 12 rebounds a game ... he averaged six point and seven rebounds as DeMatha's starting center his junior year ... at McDonough, he started both years in basketball and also played tight end and defensive end for the football team ... Personal — Born March 10, 1972 ... his full name is Kurtis William Shultz ... he originally committed to attending the U.S. Naval Academy, but never enrolled fulltime at the Academy ... after his Plebe Summer, he decided to resign his appointment and did not attend college during the 1990-91 academic year ... during his year off, he worked as a substitute teacher in Baltimore County and worked on sharpening his game ... also during his year off he got

Junior, Guard
6-3, 193
Glen Burnie, Maryland

On Thibeault — An outside shooting specialist who is always hustling on the court ... has had medical procedures performed on his back each of the last two summers and should play this season pain-free for the first time in his collegiate career ... while he is far from the most physically-gifted player on the team, his competitiveness and drive have made him a favorite of the coaching staff ... he possesses one of the best outside shots on the team and has proven to be a deceptively quick-jumping rebounder ... his work ethic and grasp of the game reminds the coaching staff of another former walk-on, Vince Broadnax ... he decided to attend Maryland over a number of Division II and III basketball offers because of its School of Engineering, but had always dreamed of playing basketball for Maryland ... he was actively recruited by the Terps' soccer program ... As a Sophomore — His back problems limited his availability to 15 games ... he averaged 1.2 points, 0.6 rebounds and one assist a game ... he played a season-high 14 minutes against UNC-Greensboro, scoring five points and grabbing three rebounds — both season-high totals ... he was all over the floor in 10 minutes at N.C. State, finishing the game with four assists and three steals — both career highs ... he played in 10 of the first 11 games of the year, before his back problems began to severely limit his playing time ... As a Freshman — He played in 18 games, averaging just under one point and one rebound a game ... his season high was three points (in three different games) and three rebounds ... after seeing little action in the first part of the season, he played in 15 of the final 18 games of the year ... High School — Played at Glen Burnie High School ... led the Metropolitan area in scoring as a senior with a 29.9 points per game average ... he was a three-year starter and the team's leading scorer as a junior and senior ... team MVP both seasons as well ... he was a first team all-state selection in basketball as a senior and was a two-time all-state pick in soccer ... Personal — Born February 29, 1972, a leap year child which makes his current age 5 ... he is the youngest of five ... his last name is pronounced TEE-bow ... he is enrolled in the University's extremely demanding civil engineering curriculum.

Walsh

#24
Sophomore, Forward
6-8, 215
West Islip, New York

On Walsh — May have been the surprise of the 1991-92 freshmen class ... he did not figure to see much action in his inaugural season, and concluded the season as the Terps' sixth man ... he underwent off-season back surgery, but was 100 percent by the start of fall practice ... he is an excellent outside shooter and, at 6-8, an effective rebounder ... he also is one of the Terps' best frontcourt passers ... the early comparisons to former All-ACC forward Tom Gugliotta are too obvious to dismiss ... at this stage of their careers, both players were about the same build, had similar inside-outside games, both hail from similar Long Island, N.Y. backgrounds and both were schooled in the fundamentals of the game by their fathers, who were high school coaches ... As a Freshman — Played in 23 games, which tied with Wayne Bristol for the most appearances among last year's freshmen ... by the end of the season, he was the team's sixth man ... he averaged 2.4 points and 1.8 rebounds in just under nine minutes a game ... he scored a career-high 10 points and grabbed six rebounds in Maryland's huge win at Florida State, and he was inserted into the line-up more liberally after that game ... against Duke in the season finale, he grabbed a season-high nine boards ... one of his best all-around games was a seven-point, seven-rebound outing against UNC-Greensboro ... he played at least 13 minutes in five of the last six games of the season — evidence of his value to the team down the stretch ... for the season, he shot 40 percent from the field and 75 percent from the line ... High School — Played his senior season at St. Thomas More Prep in Oakdale, Conn ... he averaged 18 points, 11 rebounds and four assists a game and led St. Thomas to a 19-10 overall record and a fourth-place finish in the New England Championships ... his coach at St. Thomas More, Jerry Quinn, raved about his work ethic ... prior to enrolling at St. Thomas More, he competed for West Islip High School, which is in the same Long Island, N.Y. league that produced Gugliotta ... at West Islip, he started for three seasons and was his team's leading scorer as both a sophomore and junior ... he averaged 19 points and 10 rebounds as a sophomore and 26 points, 12 rebounds and 6 assists a game as a junior ...

THE COACHING STAFF

Gary Williams
Head Coach
4th Year

"Off and Running" may be the annual theme for the 1992-93 Maryland Terrapins' basketball team, but the phrase could serve as a personal anthem to Gary Williams' accomplished coaching career.

For 14 seasons, the last three as the head coach at Maryland, Williams has run himself and his teams to unfathomable successes. His career is one that has known no obstacle too great.

American University and Boston College, two schools with little in the way of national basketball tradition, were run directly into the national spotlight under Williams, as he led both schools to impressive victory totals and post-season play.

At Ohio State, his tenure was defined by the raucous attention his teams drew, giving the Buckeyes' basketball program equal billing with its well-known football team. His successes at his previous three coaching stops, however, pale when compared to the rebuilding project he has successfully negogiated at Maryland. There is no question that three years after accepting this position at this alma mater, Williams has the Terps "Off and Running."

Recruiting for the first time at Maryland without the spectra of NCAA sanctions hanging over his head, Williams and his staff assembled one of the Top Five recruiting classes in the nation this year. As a court coach, he has consistently taken the Atlantic Coast Conference's most understaffed teams and built them into fearless overachievers.

His first season at Maryland saw the Terps, who had won just nine games the previous year, vault to 19 wins and a berth in the National Invitation Tournament. That year included regular season series sweeps of Virginia and North Carolina. That initial season began to serve notice, and Williams' teams have continued to make it clear, the Terps can play with anyone.

As a court coach, he has consistently taken the Atlantic Coast Conference's most understaffed teams and built them into fearless overachievers.

Williams, who knows something of conference wars having now coached in the ACC, the Big Ten and the Big East, has led the Terps to victories over every league opponent, save one, Duke. And his overachieving Terps managed to give the Blue Devils their biggest homecourt scare of the year last season, losing a two-point nailbiter at Cameron Indoor Stadium. His out-of-conference record as a Terp is a gaudy 30-10.

Gary Williams The Player

Gary Williams was a three-year starter at point guard for Maryland from 1964-67. A quick, heady player, Williams was regarded as the "coach on the floor" by then-Head Coach Bud Millikan. Williams was a team co-captain for the 1966-67 season, his senior year. The following Williams biography was taken from the 1966-67 Maryland basketball media guide.

"Gary Williams, 6-0, 170, 21, Senior, Collingswood, N.J. — Maryland's best floor man who can work the ball down the floor quicker than any of his mates ... can hit the open man ... a fierce competitor with a heart as big as his chest."

Williams went on to average a career-high 6.9 points that season, leading the Terps to a fifth-place finish in the ACC. That senior season also saw Williams set a school record for field goal accuracy in a game. Against South Carolina, Williams went eight for eight from the field. That perfect shooting performance set a school record, which has since been tied by three other players. Some 25 years after his playing career, Williams still is in the Maryland record book.

Gary's Assistants Now in Charge

Throughout his coaching career, Gary Williams has overseen programs that achieved phenomenal graduation rates. At Maryland, every senior that has played for Williams has earned his degree or is currently active in pursuing it.

But his graduation rates extend beyond the student-athletes. In unbelieveable numbers, former assistants to Williams are graduating into head coaching positions at the Division I level. Currently, there are six former Williams assistants who are directing major college basketball programs. Here's the list:

Randy Ayers
Assistant to Gary Williams for three years at Ohio State. Currently the head coach at OSU.

Rick Barnes
Assistant to Gary Williams for one year at Ohio State. Currently the head coach at Providence.

Paul Brazeau
Assistant to Gary Williams for one year at Boston College and three years at Ohio State. Currently the head coach at Hartford.

Fran Dunphy
Assistant to Gary Williams at American. Currently the head coach at Pennsylvania.

Fran Frachilla
Assistant to Gary Williams for two years at Ohio State. Currently the head coach at Manhattan.

Chris Knoche
Assistant to Gary Williams for two years at American. Currently the head coach at American. Knoche also played for Williams as an undergraduate at AU.

Williams refuses to accept anything else than complete effort from himself, his staff and his teams. Anyone who has seen Williams pace the sidelines as if on sentry duty, or watched him conduct every practice as if the next game were for the NCAA Championship, can't help but be affected by this man's competitiveness and drive. His excitment for the game has manifest itself in Maryland's fans. The loyal student body fills its section of Cole Field House early every game, and the students cheer continuously from the first player introduction to the final basket. Fans keep Cole packed after games — win or lose — to share the coach's post-game comments via the public address system, and groups alternately hold up placards declaring the University as MARYLAND, but Cole Field House as GARYLAND.

His all-out pursuit of excellence is a passion Williams effectively communicates with his players, and his fellow coaches, too.

At Maryland, he has used his stars and his role players with equal efficiency, always getting the most out of every player. He spent his first two seasons nurturing Walt Williams into an all-around talent, then last season unhinged the reigns and watched his multi-talented guard score nearly 27 points a game and earn unanimous All-America honors. Just as impressive, though, was his three-year tutelage of Vince Broadnax. A former walk-on for the Terps, Broadnax soaked in every drop of Williams' expertise and developed his game to the point where the recent graduate was regarded as one of the ACC's most successful one-on-one defenders in recent memory.

With his selection as the seventh pick in the most recent NBA Draft, Walt Williams joins a lengthy list of Williams-coached players currently in the NBA. Among those pros are Michael Adams, an all-star with the Washington Bullets, Dennis Hopson and Jerrod Mustaf to name a few.

Maybe more impressive than the number of players he has sent to the professional ranks, are the number of coaches he has tutored who are now directing collegiate programs themselves. Randy Ayers (head coach at Ohio State), Chris Knoche (American), Rick Barnes (Providence), Fran Fraschilla (Manhattan), Fran Dunphy (Pennsylvania) and Paul Brazeau (Hartford) all were assistants at one time under Williams. Obviously, individuals who coach with Williams stand to learn a thing or two about this game.

In three seasons at Maryland, Williams' won-loss record with the Terps is 49-41. That record brings his career totals to 256-169 in 14 seasons. Nine times in those 14 years, Williams has led teams to post-season play, taking American, Boston College, Ohio State and Maryland — all four head coaching stops on his professional resume — to post-season action.

Nine times in those 14 years, Williams has led teams to post-season play.

A 1968 graduate of Maryland, Williams lettered as the Terps' starting point guard from 1964-67 under Head Coach Bud Millikan. Not the most physically gifted college player, Williams excelled on the court by studying the game. The fullcourt pressure defense Williams' teams are now known for is a variation on what he was first taught at Maryland as a player. The fast breaking offense Williams employs today is similar to the up-tempo style that Vic Bubas' Duke teams used when Williams was a player.

Upon graduation, Williams immediately began applying the lessons and observations of his playing days to his career as a coach.

That career includes a high school state championship and seven seasons as a college assistant before taking a head coaching position - the top spot at American.

His years at AU were memorable. In 1981, his squad set a school record for victories with a 24-6 slate, won the East Coast Conference Championship and played in the NIT. Those 24 wins still is the school's all-time best season total. The next year, the Eagles went 21-9 and made a return trip to the NIT. Only once prior to Williams' arrival had AU gone to a post-season tournament, and the Eagles have not returned to post-season play since Williams left. In four years at AU, Williams' teams were 72-42.

In 1983, he moved on to Boston College, where he had been an assistant to Tom Davis five years previous. In his inaugural season at the helm at BC, Williams led the Eagles to a 25-7 record, the Big East Conference regular season title and the NCAA "Sweet 16". He went on to duplicate that NCAA Tournament success in 1985, when he again led BC to the "Sweet 16." Boston College has not advanced that far in the NCAA Tournament since.

In 1987, Williams accepted the head coaching position at Ohio State, and immediately was a success. His first Buckeyes squad upended then No. 1 and unbeaten Iowa in the regular season, in what would be the first of many giant-killings by the Williams-led-Buckeyes. Under Williams, OSU turned back second-ranked Purdue, perennial power Kansas, and highly regarded Big 10 foes Michigan and Illinois. Each of Willams' three Ohio State teams advanced to post-season play, and he laid the ground work for the highly-successful teams that have followed since he left Columbus for College Park.

Williams saw several personal milestones surpassed during the 1991-92 season. He coached his 250th career win, over Clemson at midseason, and his 400th career game, a victory over Providence early in the year, but the 47-year-old head coach has lost not an ounce of his intensity for the game.

The Terps are "Off and Running," and Gary Williams is leading the charge.

Hahn

Billy Hahn
Assistant Coach

Four years ago, shortly after accepting the head coaching job at Maryland, Gary Williams brought Billy Hahn in as one of his two full-time assistant coaches. Williams knew the tangibles he was getting by hiring Hahn: a Maryland alumnus, who had been a successful college assistant and head coach, and someone who knew this area well.

The head coach also admired the intangibles that Hahn would bring to the program. "I knew if Billy was one of our coaches, nobody would ever outwork our staff," Williams says.

Such is Hahn's reputation as a tireless worker. As a recruiter, he strives to provide all the information necessary for a potential student-athlete to be able to make an informed decision about his choice of schools. At no time in his career did Hahn work harder at recruiting than this past season.

While he had done a yeoman's job of recruiting in his first two seasons when the Maryland program was saddled with NCAA sanctions, Hahn had always promised that a true measure of his recruiting abilities would be evident in the first year of no sanctions.

The Terps Class of '96 speaks for itself, with all five players in the class expected to become major contributors to the program.

He works just as hard at his on-court coaching responsibilities too. Hahn is so veracious with his instructions to the team during games, that fans half way up the Cole Field House stands feel compelled to "raise your hands" when the Terps are back on defense. Somehow, even when Cole is packed with 14,500 fans cheering in unison, Hahn's voice can still pierce the court, urging Maryland players toward the next rebound, or fast-break opportunity.

Before joining Williams' Maryland staff, Hahn was for three years the head coach at Ohio University, compiling a 42-45 overall record and always fielding competitive teams in the under-appreciated Mid-American Conference. In 1989, he coached the MAC Player of the Year, Paul Graham. In his three years, 100 percent of his senior players earned their degrees.

Prior to his being named head coach, Hahn was for six years the Ohio University assistant, aiding Danny Nee's staffs as its primary recruiter and a savvy court coach. For four years those OU teams posted 20 win seasons, while twice earning trips to the NCAA Tournament and once to the NIT.

Prior to his stint at Ohio, Hahn was for three years an assistant at Rhode Island (1977-80), where he recruited and coached future New York Knicks star Sly Williams, and before that he was an assistant at Davidson College (1976-77) and Morris Harvey College in West Virginia (1975-76).

When Hahn played at Maryland, from 1971-75, the Terps were one of the nation's most dominant teams. He was a freshman in 1971-72 when the Terps won the National Invitation Tournament, he was a member of the team that lost arguably the greatest ACC game of all time — 103-100 in overtime to N.C. State in 1974 — and he shared in the triumph of captaining his senior team to the third round of the NCAA Tournament in 1975.

Perry

Art Perry
Assistant Coach

Early in his coaching career, it was evident that Art Perry had a gift for evaluating basketball talent, and an easy-going, reserved style that made him an effective recruiter.

Now, with nearly 20 years experience in coaching, Perry continues to apply that gift and that style, and has established himself as one of the top recruiters in the country.

Need proof? Consider that if early predictions regarding several members of Maryland's incoming freshmen class are correct, Perry has recruited players with potential NBA-talent to his third school.

In fact, more than 20 student-athletes that Perry has recruited have been drafted into the pros, and more than half of those draftees had lengthy, successful careers. As a relative youngster in the coaching profession at Rutgers in the mid-1970s, Perry recruited future NBA standouts Roy Hinson and John Battle. At Old Dominion, he recruited future NBA first round draft pick Chris Gatling.

There are several names among the players that Perry has helped recruit to Maryland recently that could expand that list.

Though beginning just his third year at Maryland, Perry has deep ties to this area. A Washington, D.C. native, Perry grew up playing ball in some of the same city leagues in which now he watches many of the nation's top young players compete. He was a three-sport star at Eastern High School in the District. He was the quarterback on the football team, starting point guard on the basketball team — leading both squads to city titles — and a top sprinter on the track team.

After a four-year stint as a crew chief for jet fighters and a member of the All-Air Force basketball team, Perry returned to the area and enrolled at American University. There, he played with future NBA star Kermit Washington, and had visions of also joining the professional ranks before a knee injury prior to his junior year ended his playing career.

That injury, though, hastened the start of his coaching career. Perry left American to join Tom Young at Rutgers as a student coach. He was a member of Young's staff that directed the Scarlet Knights to the 1976 NCAA Final Four. After a brief stint on the staff at Connecticut, Perry returned to Rutgers where he helped coach two more NCAA Tournament teams and one team that advanced to the NIT. In 1985, he moved with Young to Old Dominion, which he helped direct to the 1986 NCAA Tournament and the 1988 NIT.

Since joining Gary Williams' staff prior to the 1990-91 season, Perry has served in a variety of capacities. He and his staff counterpart, Billy Hahn, are the staff's chief recruiters and opponent scouts. They both also are involved in the preparation of the daily practice plans and all aspects of on-court coaching.

JIMMY PATSOS
Assistant Coach

In his second season on the staff, Jimmy Patsos this year will see his responsibilities expanded to all areas of the program.

Patsos will coordinate the video exchange program, assist with academic monitoring of team members, handle advance opponent scouting, and work with on-campus recruiting. Those responsibilities, of course, are in addition to his daily courtside coaching schedule.

Patsos first joined the Maryland staff as a volunteer assistant last season. A former small college player and high school assistant coach, Patsos immediately showed an outstanding grasp for the nuances of the major-college game.

Prior to coming to Maryland, Patsos was for two years the assistant coach at Archbishop Carroll High School in Washington D.C. His first year at Carroll, the team posted a 21-8 overall record and was ranked as high as No. 6 nationally before losing to archrival DeMatha in the city playoffs. Patsos enjoyed coaching a number of standout players on that team, including Charles Harrison (of Wake Forest) and Lawrence Moten (of Syracuse).

A native of Boston, Mass., Patsos, 26, played his college ball in the area, earning four varsity letters from Catholic University. He earned is undergraduate degree in history from CUA in 1989, and he currently is pursuing his master's in theater history at Maryland.

PETER SAUER
Administrative Assistant

Handling the day-to-day administrative duties of Maryland's basketball operation is Peter Sauer, who is in his fourth year with the staff. Sauer was the assistant athletic director for development and communications at the University of Maryland-Baltimore County in 1988, before joining Gary Williams' first staff.

Among Sauer's duties for the Terps are coordination of the facilities and schedules and game management. He also coordinates team travel and assists with the organization of the Gary Williams Basketball Camp and the academic monitoring of the basketball team.

At UMBC, Sauer orchestrated the revamping of Retrievers' corporate sponsorship program, one end result of which was the broadcasting of four Retriever games on television — a University first. His efforts in other areas helped secure for UMBC its most productive year ever at the gate. The school set single game and season attendance records during the 1988-89 season. Prior to his work at UMBC, he was an assistant to the general manager at the Patriot Center, George Mason University's home basketball arena. There he assisted in all areas of event and facility management.

Cleo Long-Thomas

Like his boss, Gary Williams, Sauer is a graduate of the University of Maryland, earning a bachelor of arts degree in government and politics in 1981. He went on to earn his law degree in 1987 from the University of Nebraska College of Law.

CLEO LONG-THOMAS
Coaches' Secretary

Trying to keep all the Terps' coaches organized is the job of staff secretary Cleo Long-Thomas, who is in her third season in the hoops office.

The definitive jack-of-all-trades, Long Thomas handles all of the professional schedules for the Maryland coaches, assists with the planning of Coach Williams' speaking engagements, organizes recruiting correspondence, and generally tries to keep the basketball office running smoothly in the midst of a hectic season.

A native of Washington, D.C., Long-Thomas has worked at the University for six years. Prior to joining the athletic department, she was a secretary for the graduate school's institutional review board. Prior to coming to the University, she worked for 17 years in the federal government.

Cleo and her husband, Jocquin, have three children; Tyrone, 24, Jabari, 18, and Raven, 9. The couple now resides in Hyattsville, Md.

COLE FIELD HOUSE

When college basketball was achieving its most explosive growth — from the late 1950's to the 1970's — there was one college gymnasium on the East Coast that sat as many as 12,000 fans. Cole Field House epitomized the new big time, main event status of college hoops, the sport of network TV and emerging legends. It stands today as a building that faces cosmetic renewal over the next several years, but Cole's charisma will not be tampered with; there was not a bad seat on Dec. 2, 1955, when it was dedicated in a game against Virginia, and there is not a better place to watch a game today. Only in a building like Cole, where history has been routinely made, can the fan feel the echo of tradition, and experience, even in the empty Cole, the electricity generated by buzzer beaters and a thousand slam dunks.

Cole was dedicated as the Student Activities Center, a $3.3 million project that was erected under the tutelage of Board of Regents Chair, Judge William P. Cole Jr., and President Wilson Elkins. A year after the dedication, the building was named in honor of Cole, who served the Board of Regents for 25 years.

Although Cole has remained the same basketball hall it was built to be, there have been refinements. Scoreboards were installed recently that will not only tell the fan what the score is, but also how loud they are cheering. A new floor design was added last year. Cole's seating also grew from its original base, and 14,500 fans can now root for the Red and White at any game.

As championships were awarded over the years, Cole got some of the very best. The 1966 and 1970 Men's Basketball Final Fours were held here. In 1990, the first and second rounds of the Eastern Regionals were held in Cole Field House. The NCAA Wrestling Championship was held here in 1960, 1972, 1978, 1987, and 1990, and the NCAA Women's Volleyball Championship took place here in 1990.

Cole Field House is home to most of the athletic department offices, and yearly hosts thousands who visit just to see where so much hoop history has been made.

THE UNIVERSITY AT COLLEGE PARK

These are great days at the University of Maryland at College Park. The university, through an act of the state legislature, has been designated officially as the state's flagship campus with a mandate to become one of the nation's leading public universities. The effect of that mandate is for individuals from all corners of the university to aspire toward excellence, to think great thoughts and to become immersed in an educational enterprise of the highest caliber. There is an unmistakable momentum for change and a sense of heightened expectation at College Park — Maryland is choosing quality.

The faculty have enthusiastically endorsed a new general education program that began in the fall of 1990. It is a blueprint for comprehensive changes in the undergraduate experience at Maryland. The campus is reducing its undergraduate enrollment, improving the ratio between faculty and students, raising admissions standards, revamping the University Honors Program, strengthening the advising system, supporting expanded undergraduate research, and encouraging innovations in teaching.

A new language house has opened where student residents have direct satellite access to foreign language television broadcasts from the USSR, Latin America, Italy and Japan, and where, in a total immersion setting, they have pledged to speak their chosen language at all times. A new honors house, a stimulating living-and-learning center for undergraduates taking part in the University Honors Program, will open in 1992. An international house, a living-learning environment that will meet the growing needs of the diverse international population on campus, is in the works.

Our location adds to the excitement on campus, too. Few regions in the nation have the intellectual, cultural and physical resources to compare with those in the Baltimore-Washington, D.C. corridor. College Park's location astride that corridor means that Maryland undergraduates may tap these resources to their fullest — through internships, research projects, cooperative work-study and other programs offering hands-on experience.

We invite you to take a closer look at the University of Maryland, its extensive academic programs, faculty, research facilities, student activities and support services and the resources and opportunities it offers. See for yourself the number of different ways in which Maryland is choosing quality. There has never been a better time to choose Maryland.

History

Just after the American Revolution, the state of Maryland established its first two colleges at Chestertown and Annapolis. By the 1850s, at least thirty little colleges had sprung up over the state, many with state support, but many of them disappearing within a few years. Then, in 1859 a different kind of institution appeared at College Park—the Maryland Agricultural College, the third such college in the world, created mainly for farmers' sons. The college was established by Charles Benedict Calvert, a wealthy planter from nearby Riversdale—now Riverdale—and later a congressman. Calvert built a handsome Gothic dormitory—classroom structure located in a grove of trees near the present Morrill Hall, and he divided the land down to the Baltimore-Washington Turnpike into small plots where each of the 50-or-so students experimented with a different agricultural crop. After the Civil War the institution became a land-grant college, with small appropriations from Washington. The little college began to grow about 1900 when agricultural experiments began to bring prosperity to Maryland, and when the college expanded its offerings into engineering, businness and the liberal arts. In 1912 the old Gothic building burned, and the state provided modern structures. Women were admitted to the campus, and graduate work began. In 1920 the college combined with the long-established professional schools of Baltimore and changed its name to the University of Maryland. Growth accelerated after 1935 when the politically astute football coach, H.C. 'Curley' Byrd became president, added scores of new programs, and won national football championships. In the 1950s and 1960s, President Wilson H. Elkins maintained the rapid growth, and College Park became one of the largest campuses in the nation. President Elkins, a Rhodes Scholar, transformed the institution's public image from that of a party school to one of academic integrity. In the 1970s and 1980s, the university's graduate and research programs flourished. In 1988, the

General Assembly of Maryland combined six state colleges with the five campuses of the University of Maryland, and specifically charged College Park with the role of leadership. The University of Maryland at College Park recognizes its special responsibility as the flagship and the largest of the eleven institutions within the statewide university system to lead the University of Maryland's quest for excellence. To this end, College Park offers broad coverage in the traditional arts and sciences as well as in a wide range of professional and pre-professional programs. The institution is organized into fourteen colleges and schools encompassing over 100 departments and campus-wide programs of study. A growing number of these departments and programs rank among the best in the nation. Today the University of Maryland at College Park stands, by any measure, as one of the leading institutions of higher education in the world.

Locale

The state of Maryland is unrivalled in its scenic beauty, its rich heritage, and its wealth of educational, recreational, and cultural opportunities. From the mountain passes of Garrett County in the west, to the sand dunes of Assateague Island on the Eastern Shore, and the cosmopolitan excitement of Baltimore and Washington, DC, there is an unparalleled variety of experiences and resources available to students at the university.

Nine miles from the nation's capital, the University of Maryland at College Park is within easy reach of the country's best research facilities. The Library of Congress, the National Archives (whose new facility is being constructed adjacent to the campus), the Smithsonian Institution and the National Libraries of Agriculture and Medicine are among the many unique resources in the area.

In addition to traditional scholarly resources, the campus is surrounded by the dynamic cultural opportunities that only a major metropolitan area can provide. The Kennedy Center alone houses the National Symphony Orchestra, five performance stages, an opera company, and the American Film Institute.

In Baltimore, one of the great ports of the world, a recent and remarkable renaissance has added the glistening touch of office towers and hotels to the quaint shops and ethnic restaurants of its many colorful neighborhoods. Harborplace and the National Aquarium anchor the Inner Harbor, which has become a cultural magnet for thousands of tourists each year.

The Chesapeake Bay accounts for nearly 20 percent of Maryland's acreage, and is a focal point for the serious study of estuarine ecology as well as a recreational treasure. It is the source of Maryland's famed crabs and other seafood specialties, and a refuge for many species of water fowl.

Not far from any point in the state is evidence of the burgeoning development which has made Maryland a model for economic growth and fiscal health. High tech, engineering, and service industries thrive in proximity to the campus, offering a wide spectrum of opportunities for work-study or internships for students and career choices for graduates.

The University of Maryland at College Park, as the flagship campus of the state higher education system, is a vital part of Maryland's current prosperity and its vision for the future. For students here, the state offers a bounteous extension to the campus's own wealth of opportunity.

University President

William E. Kirwan

After more than 25 years of service as a professor and administrator at the University of Maryland at College Park, Dr. William E. Kirwan was appointed president on February 1, 1989. He had served as acting president of the University since August 1, 1988, when the resignation of President John B. Slaughter became effective.

Under Dr. Kirwan's leadership, the University of Maryland at College Park recently developed a $150 million, five-year plan to enhance the University, including a program to strengthen undergraduate education.

Dr. Kirwan joined the University in 1964 as an assistant professor of mathematics. He rose steadily through the faculty ranks as associate professor (1968-72), professor (1972-present) and chair of the Department of Mathematics (1977-81).

In 1981, he was appointed vice chancellor for academic affairs, College Park's chief academic post. From August to November 1982, Dr. Kirwan served as acting chancellor, returning to his position as vice chancellor when Dr. Slaughter was appointed chancellor of College Park. As vice chancellor, Dr. Kirwan raised admission standards, increased the number of merit scholarships and graduate fellowships, and established an academic planning process.

Dr. Kirwan is a member of numerous honorary and professional societies, including Phi Beta Kappa, the American Mathematical Society, and the Mathematical Association of America. He is the co-editor of the book Advances in Complex Analysis, and the author of many published articles on mathematical research. He served as editor of the Proceedings of the American Mathematical Society from 1977 to 1985. Currently, he chairs the Mathematical Sciences in the Year 2000 committee, a task force created by the National Research Council to improve mathematics education at the nation's colleges and universities during the next decade.

Born in Louisville, Ky. on April 14, 1938, Dr. Kirwan received his bachelor's degree in mathematics from the University of Kentucky in 1960. He holds master's (1962) and Ph.D. (1964) degrees in mathematics from Rutgers University.

Dr. Kirwan and his wife, Patricia, have a son who received his bachelor's and master's degrees in architecture from College Park and a daughter who currently is a student at the University.

Andy Geiger
Athletic Director

Andy Geiger, whose tenure as Athletic Director at Stanford University elevated him to the top rank of athletic administrators, was named to direct the athletic program at Maryland by College Park President William E. Kirwan on Sept. 7, 1990.

Geiger's two-year tenure has elevated the image of Maryland athletics, and provided structure and planning for the 1990s and beyond. A national presence in intercollegiate athletics, he regularly serves on NCAA panels dealing with the issues of the day, and he is a member of the NCAA Special Events Committee. Geiger is frequently consulted by the media on what is taking place, and what will take place, in college athletics.

Geiger's structuring of Maryland's 23-sport program includes the creation of a contemporary fund-raising aparatus that will not only meet the immediate economic goals of the department, but also the long-term needs. He is responsible for directing the Maryland Partnership, a matching-gift program with the State that is rebuilding the College Park athletic complex. Already, $19.3 million worth of improvements have gone into Byrd Stadium.

Geiger's two years have also netted the school an NCAA Championship (Women's Lacrosse in 1992), and the first bid to a football bowl game in five years (the Independence Bowl in 1990). In Geiger's 11 years at Stanford, the Cardinal was as effective at winning NCAA titles (27) as any school in the nation. His stewardship also included a restructuring of its gift-giving system, and a continuation of the school's academic traditions.

At Maryland, Geiger has stressed the development of the whole student-athlete. He has regorganized the Academic Support Unit, and in football there has been marked improvement in academics. Twenty-three players recorded 3.0 GPAs during the past semester, a 130% rise over a year before.

Geiger's academic philosophy was built-up over 27 years as an athletic administrator at some of the nation's most prestigious universities.

He was named Athletic Director at Brown in 1972, and he moved to another Ivy League school, Pennsylvania in 1975. During his final year there (1978-79), Pennsylvania became the last Ivy school to qualify for the Final Four of the NCAA Men's Basketball Championship. While at Penn he was named to the NCAA Division I Basketball Committee, and as a member he helped direct the enormous explosion of the NCAA Tournament in the 1980s.

A 1961 graduate of Syracuse, he was an oarsman for the Orangemen and competed in the 1971 Pan-Am Games.

Geiger, 52, has been married to the former Eleanor Rollings for 30 years. They have two children, Phillip and Gregory.

MVP TERPS

Over the course of a collegiate basketball season, there are numerous individuals within any athletic department who work tirelessly to see that everything runs smoothly.

At the University of Maryland, every facet of the athletic department is involved in supporting the Terps' 23 intercollegiate sports programs, especially the men's basketball program. From advance marketing and ticket sales months before the season to facility maintanence and uniform cleaning after a game, every member of Maryland's athletic department has a part in the Terrapins' success.

Basketball Coach Gary Williams knows how hard the individuals in the athletic department work for his team and all the others in the program. As a player at Maryland, he was touched by the compassion of department staff toward he and his teammates.

Now as the coach, he is impressed by the commitment of the staff toward his players and his program.

"I honestly believe we have some of the hardest working people in intercollegiate athletics," Williams says. "These people put in tremendous effort and work incredible hours for the sports teams in this department.

"On behalf of the basketball program, I want the people in this department, as well as the Pep Band and cheerleaders and all the individuals that work so hard for us, to know that we appreciate it."

ACADEMIC SUPPORT UNIT

The commitment to academic achievement is at the forefront of the athletic department's responsibility to every student-athlete. Striving for excellence is not just something that University of Maryland student-athletes do on the field.

Toward the goal of a successful academic experience for each student-athlete, the athletic department created the Academic Support Unit.

Academic Support offers a comprehensive program for personal and academic development that includes:

* Personal academic assessment
* Academic advising and counseling
* Supervised study
* Learning and study skills programs
* Computer training and usage
* Group and individual tutoring
* Career mentoring
* Summer internships

Dr. Javaune Adams-Gaston serves as the Director of Athletic Student Services. In this capacity. she directs the activities of the Athletic Medicine Department and the Academic Support Unit. In the Academic Support Unit, she and her staff work with every student-athlete in detail to provide the most complete academic experience possible for the student-athlete.

A licensed psychologist, Dr. Adams-Gaston's commitment to bettering student-athletes' lives extends beyond academic support. As director of student services, she oversees an exhaustive series of seminars and programs relating to drug education, time and stress management, and career planning. She also is available for one-on-one counseling sessions with student-athletes, and she has been acknowledged across the campus community for her effective and committed work with students.

Dr. Adams-Gaston graduated from the University of Dubuque in 1978 with a degree in biology, psychology and general science. She earned her master's in clinical psychology from Loras College in Dubuque in 1980 and her Ph.D. in counseling psychology from Iowa State in 1983.

Dr. Adams-Gaston is ably assisted by two assistant directors.

Elizabeth Friedman is in her second year as a full-time athletic department employee after more than four years of assisting student-athletes on a part-time basis. Friedman, a native of Rockville, Md. and graduate of Maryland, coordinates the Academic Support Unit's satisfactory-progress monitoring system. This program of frequent progress reporting between the ASU, faculty and student-athletes insures that each student-athlete is making consistent progress toward a beneficial and meaningful degree.

Friedman, who earned a bachelor of arts in criminology from Maryland in 1988 and a master's of arts in criminology and counseling in 1991 from Maryland, follows personally the academic progress of the Terps football players, as well as several other sports teams.

Eleanor Green is in her fourth year with the University and her second with the ASU. A native of Morgantown, WV, Green earned her bachelor's degree in social work in 1983 and her master's in counseling in 1988 from West Virginia University.

She coordinates the increasing flow of student-athlete eligibility paperwork, all the while coordinating the academic counseling and monitoring of eight Terp sports teams, including men's and women's basketball. Green also coordinates the extensive orientation program which every student-athlete undergoes on campus each fall.

Dr. Adams-Gaston, Friedman and Green also provide seminars for student-athletes on motivation, study skills and time management, as well as several other learned skills.

In addition to individual academic counseling, each member of the Academic Support Unit serves in other capacities. The ASU staff operates the ever-expanding computer room, where student-athletes in all sports gain hands-on experience with various computer hardware and software. The ASU also operates an extensive bookroom, where student-athletes have at their disposal the majority of the text books they will need during their undergraduate years.

More than 100 tutors in all academic disciplines are organized by the ASU. Student-athletes can receive specialized one-on-one training in any class by a qualified tutor just by asking.

In general, the Academic Support Unit at the University of Maryland has a tremendously positive and important impact on each of the student-athletes who join the Terps' program.

Javaune Adams-Gaston: As the head of the Academic Support Unit, she provides hands-on assistance to all student-athleties.

Eleanor Green: She is one of two full-time academic counselors on staff in the Academic Support Unit.

Liz Friedman (standing): A coordinator of the ASU's Computer Lab, she instructs all Terp student-athletes on the latest hardware and software equipment.

ASU'S START FAST PROGRAM

Beginning with this year's fall semester, the athletic department's Academic Support Unit began a comprehensive preparation and study skills program designed to assist incoming student-athletes adjust to the academic and social rigors of college life.

STudent Athlete Resource Tactics - Freshman Athlete Scholastic Training (START FAST) is an orientation program designed especially for freshmen and transfer student-athletes. As part of their transition to Maryland, new student-athletes are required to participate in this program, which is a combined effort between the student-athletes, coaches, academic and development staff, and campus faculty and administrators.

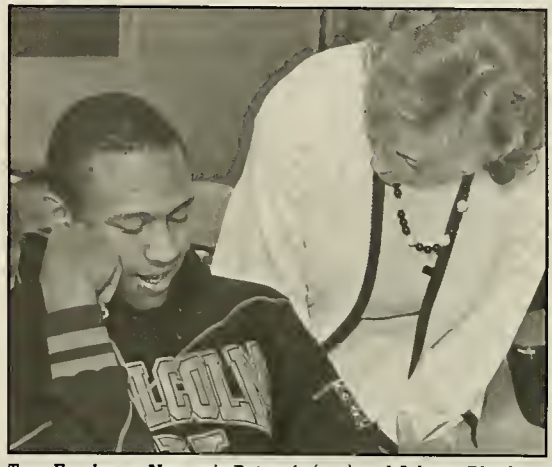
The focus of START FAST is to assist student athletes in balancing their dual roles effectively. The program builds and improves student athlete study skills as well as providing the athletes an opportunity to explore developmental issues.

The Academic Support Unit coordinates START FAST, but coaches participate in the academic development of the students in this daily program, and campus faculty and staff provide expertise on a variety of topics.

During the course of the program, student-athletes are taught highly structured organizational planning which includes: note taking; time management; proactive planning; learning strategies; test-taking and writing skills.

Student-athletes prepare a FAST Notebook, in which they include daily scheduling, class notes, daily priority lists and summaries of each day's class lectures. The Notebook is reviewed daily as part of the START FAST program, and has proven to be an invaluable organizational and study tool for the student-athletes.

Additionally, weekly workshops, led by University faculty and staff, are scheduled that allow student-athletes to explore a variety of individual and campus issues. Career interests also are assessed on an individual basis, and seminars on University survival skills — effective library use, utilizing advisors, computer assistance, etc. — also are a big part of the START FAST program.



Terp Freshmen Nemanja Petrovic (top) and Johnny Rhodes take part daily in the athletic department's START FAST program.

MEDICAL STAFF

J.J. BUSH
Basketball Trainer

Providing the day-to-day injury prevention care to the Maryland basketball team is trainer J.J. Bush, who is beginning his second decade of providing the best medical attention possible to Maryland student-athletes.

Bush came to the University in 1972, as assistant trainer to the immortal "Spider" Fry. Since Bush's arrival, he has worked with all 23-sport teams at Maryland, including stints as the basketball trainer in the late 1970s and early 1980s when the Terps were enjoying some of their most successful seasons.

As the basketball team trainer, Bush assists with the team's off-season conditioning program, coordinates daily medical treatments for players and supervises all rehabilatative efforts in the advent of an injury.

In addition to his training duties, Bush also teaches a kinesiology course on preventative training techniques for the University, and he is a frequent lecturer throughout the mid-atlantic region of the United States on the latest training methods.

Bush is active in the National Athletic Trainers Association, and he has worked extensively in the organization on improving athletic training techniques on the high school level.

A native of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Bush, 45, graduated from Florida State in 1969. He has two children: Brandon, 15, and Jordan, 8.

J.J. Bush prepares Chris Kerwin for a recent game.

Steve Fahey

Dr. STAN LAVINE
Team Physician

Dr. Stan Lavine's role at Maryland has been to make the Terrapins go, whether as an undergraduate standout in football, or as the team physician for almost three decades.

A native of Pittsburgh, Lavine came to the University of Maryland as a doctor-to-be and an outstanding quarterback.

By the time he graduated in 1950, he held several Maryland passing records, enjoyed a senior season that included a win over powerful Missouri in the Gator Bowl, and possessed a solid educational foundation that served him well in medical school.

After graduating from the University's Medical School, he interned in hospitals in Philadelphia and Cleveland, served two years in the Air Force, and then began his orthopedic medical practice and work with Maryland's athletic teams.

Dr. Lavine attends all football games, home basketball games, and some road games, and he is on call at all times for the athletes on the University's 23 sports teams.

STUDENT HEALTH CENTER

Much of the non-orthopedic medical care the Maryland student-athletes receive is performed on campus at the University's Student Health Center. Dr. Stephen Fahey and Dr. Sacred Bodison are the two fulltime Health Center physicians who specialize in sports medicine.

Both Dr. Fahey and Dr. Bodison are available to treat student-athletes 24 hours a day, and both have scheduled hours in which they staff the University training rooms to consult with student-athletes on a walk-up basis.

Dr. Fahey is an emergency physician who is in his sixth year working with the athletic department. He received his undergraduate degree from Dartmouth, where he competed in rugby and freshman basketball. He received his medical degree from Harvard in 1975.

Dr. Bodison, in her 13th year as the Health Center's assistant director for medical services, has been the coordinator of sports medicine since 1982. She is a graduate of the University of Buffalo and received her medical degree from SUNY-Down State Medical School in 1975.

She and her husband have two children, Sasha, 13, and Brenton, 9. The family resides in Silver Spring, Md.

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

While the competitive basketball season is limited to three months, the Terps work year-round with the department's strength and conditioning staff, applying the latest strength training innovations toward becoming the best conditioned athletes possible.

The Terps have three fully-equipped weight rooms in which to work, each supplied with the latest in weight training equipment. The newest equipment is housed in a weight room that is attached to the men's basketball lockerroom.

With state-of-the-art equipment at their disposal, Maryland's student-athletes also are aided in their conditioning by working with the some of the most experienced coaches anywhere in the country.

FRANK COSTELLO

Strength Coach

Frank Costello has enjoyed unique success among all Terrapin coaches. He is the only individual in the athletic department who has been named both a NCAA Champion and a NCAA Coach of the Year as a Terp.

Costello's athletic success came during his career as a high jumper at Maryland during the mid 1960s. Costello was the NCAA high jump champion both indoors and outdoors during the 1965-66 competitive seasons. He was second in the events during the 1966-67 championships — finishing runner-up to Dick Fosbury and his revolutionary "Fosbury Flop" — and finished third overall at the 1968 Outdoor Championships. Costello received his physical education degree from Maryland in 1968.

After his competitive career ended, Costello joined the coaching staff as an assistant track coach and assistant strength coach — dual roles he held until being named head track coach in 1974. Over the next five seasons, Costello coached 27 track and field All-Americans, including world-record holder Renaldo Nehamiah. Costello was the NCAA Coach of the Year in 1975.

In 1980, Costello became the Terps' head strength and conditioning coach, and has worked with all Maryland student-athletes in that capacity for the past 12 years.

In addition to his work at Maryland, Costello is a full-time consultant for the Washington Capital of the NHL and has assisted with numerous NFL teams, including the Washington Redskins.

Costello is married to the former Sherry Marcus. He is the father of three: Melissa, 15, Christopher, 12, and T.C., 5.

Frank Costello

Mike Vasalani

MIKE VASALANI

Assistant Strength Coach

Beginning his fifth year on the strength staff, Mike Vasalani assists Frank Costello with the conditioning regime for all Terrapin student athletes. Vasalani and Costello both work daily with the Terps' basketball team, assisting them in both weight training and off-court conditioning workouts.

A native of Pittsburgh, Vasalani knows his way around a weight room. While attending Slippery Rock University, Vasalani was a two-time national power lifting champion. He won back-to-back titles in 1986 and 1987.

After graduating from Slippery Rock in 1987 with a degree in exercise science, "Vaz" immediately began applying his professional training and personal skills toward coaching.

He joined Costello's staff in 1988, and has been an integral member of the staff since. Besides the men's basketball team, Costello and Vasalani work with most of the Terps other 22 intercollegiate sport teams.

Both coaches are frequent speakers around the community, discussing the benefits of proper strength and conditioning exercise and the dangers of taking shortcuts to enhance the body's performance.

TERP TRADITIONS

Testudo, a Diamondback Turtle whose name is derived from the scientific classification for turtle (testudines), is the mascot of the University of Maryland. Testudo's flight to become official mascot was (there is no other description) slow. But once on top, Testudo has reigned with a bronze-like grip, peering at generations of younger Terps crossing in front of, or entering the Theodore R. McKeldin Library in the heart of the College Park campus. The 500 pound Terrapin's days of roving to conquer rival campuses at the behest of the College Park student body are over, his undisturbed regal bearing insured by his being bolted to a concrete throne.

The need for a mascot was essential in the early 1920s in a world littered with Wildcats, Tigers, Devils, Wolves, Bears, and all sorts of traditional names derived from a half-century of college athletics. Maryland was consolidated from different state schools in 1920 to form the base of today's wide-ranging state system and it needed a flag-carrier to do battle with Wahoos, Lions, and Generals.

Dr. H.C. Byrd, the University President in 1922, recommended the Diamondback as mascot in response to the student newspaper's search for an "official" leader. Although his suggestion was, indeed, "official," there were some who resisted, opting for the older and historically entrenched term, Old-Liners. A label derived from the Revolutionary War when Maryland soldiers earned the accolade for bravery and perseverance in the face of British troops. Old-Liners had a more vocal lobby than the speechless turtle.

By 1935, however, the Yearbook had changed its name from Reveille to Terrapin by a vote of the student body, and save for some splintered resistance, Testudo's family had won. Newspapers, even then exploring every angle, shortened Terrapin to Terp, but Testudo by any name is still a turtle.

Samuel P. Gorham of Providence, R.I., cast Testudo in bronze at the request of the Class of 1933. He was modeled after a feisty Diamondback that came from Dr. Byrd's hometown of Crisfield. Dr. Byrd's choice of mascot was not intended to reflect the docility of Maryland teams. As a small boy near his home he surely found out what so many others have discovered about Terrapins — they bite.

COLORS

The colors of the University of Maryland are those of the state flag—gold, red, black, and white.

Maryland's flag bears the arms of the Calvert and Crossland families. Calvert was the family name of the Lords Baltimore who founded Maryland, and their colors of gold and black appear in the first and fourth quarters of the flag. Crossland was the family of the mother of George Calvert, first Lord Baltimore. The red and white Crossland colors, with a Greek cross terminating in the foils, appear in the second and third quarters. The flag was first flown in its present form October 25, 1888, at Gettysburg Battlefield for the ceremonies dedicating monuments to Maryland regiments of the Army of the Potomac. It was officially adopted in 1904. Maryland law requires that if any ornament is affixed to the top of a flagstaff carrying the Maryland flag, the ornament must be a gold cross bottony.

THE ATLANTIC COAST CONFERENCE

The Tradition

Consistency. It's the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Founded on May 8, 1953 and now in its 40th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Atlantic Coast Conference schools have captured 43 NCAA & AIAW championships, including 24 in men's sports and 19 in women's competition. In addition, 72 men and 22 women have earned the coveted title of NCAA Champion.

The University of Maryland brought the first national Championship to the ACC, winning the national football title in 1953.

If success is best measured in terms of wins and losses, then the ACC is unrivaled in NCAA Basketball Tournament history. No Division I conference has posted a better record than the ACC since the NCAA's inaugural tournament in 1938. The nine current conference members have posted an NCAA Tournament mark of 202-109 for a Tournament-best .650 winning percentage. With Duke's dramatic national championship season of 1992, ACC teams have claimed six national titles, while finishing second on eight occasions.

National Audiences

Over the years, ACC basketball teams have gained global recognition through their NCAA Tournament and national television exposure. During the 1991-92 season, a minimum of 80 regular season games, plus all eight contests in the annual conference tournament will be televised. ACC teams will be seen this season on all three major networks and ESPN.

The Terps enjoy two ESPN appearances among their 15 televised regular season games this year.

Outstanding Academics

The ACC also stands at the forefront of intercollegiate athletics in terms of academic accomplishments of its student-athletes. That accomplishment is nowhere better reflected than in the CFA Academic Achievement Award which is given annually to the CFA member institution with the highest graduation rate among members of its football team. Six times over the past 11 years, an ACC member school has claimed the award.

In addition, since 1963, ACC basketball players have earned first team Academic All-America honors 28 times. The most recent of those honorees is Maryland's Matt Roe, who was a national selection following the 1990-91 season. Roe typified the student-athletes in the ACC, earning third team All-ACC honors on the court and first team Academic All-America honors off it.

The Championships

The conference will conduct championships in 23 sports in 1992-93, with 12 for men and 11 for women.

The first ACC championship was held in swimming on Feb. 25, 1954, while the league's inaugural basketball tournament took place March 4-6, 1954. That tournament drew 36,000 fans over three days, and the Grandaddy of college basketball tournaments continues to pack them in. This year's post-season classic will again be held in the Charlotte Coliseum, whose 23,000-plus seats will be filled to capacity four consecutive days.

The ACC this year will sponsor men's championships in basketball, football, cross country, soccer, indoor and outdoor track, wrestling, baseball, swimming, tennis, golf and lacrosse.

Women's sports were initiated at the conference level in 1977. The league will sponsor championships for women in basketball, cross country, volleyball, field hockey, soccer, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, tennis, golf and softball.

TERP CLUB / M CLUB

Two traditional graduate arms of Maryland Athletics, representing friends and alumni of athletics for a combined 115 years, are joining forces to meet the extraordinary needs of today's student-athlete. The Terrapin Club/Maryland Educational Foundation, which for 46 years has been raising scholarship monies, and the M Club, the alumni letterwinners support group for 69 years, will now have common gift-giving levels and goal support of Maryland 23 sport program.

The Terrapin Club/Maryland Educational Foundation

The Maryland Educational Foundation was founded on July 1, 1946, at the urging of Clark Shaugnessy, the football coach. The social segment of the organization, the Terrapin Club, was founded later that year.

The membership started with 132 friends of Maryland athletics each donating $100 for scholarships and an additional $25 for social dues. The early years featured philanthropic support for Terrapin scholarships, which were partly supported by athletic department revenues. What was an informal orgnaization giving much needed help to Maryland athletics became an integral part of the budget process with the soaring costs of intercollegiate athletics in the 1970s. Now most scholarship revenues for Terrapin student athletes come from the Maryland Educational Foundation. In 1991-92, $1.5 million was raised by the M.E.F. from 3,250 members.

The M Club

Like so many other worthy projects at the University, the M Club had Dr. H.C. "Curley" Byrd on board at the start as the club's first president in 1923. Byrd was putting the finishing touches on the first Byrd Stadium complex built along U.S. 1, down campus from the present stadium, and monies were needed to fill needs beyond bricks and mortar. The present University of Maryland at College Park was formed in 1920, and Byrd was finally getting the athletic complex he had desired for years. The M Club was formed to meet the needs of a bigger, larger athletic department, to supply support for the student-athlete now that a new complex was built. The same philosophy drives the M Club today as it provides support for student-athletes through its 1250 active members at a time when facilties are being built, and additional funds area priority.

The Terrapin Club, one of the fastest growing booster clubs in the country, and the M Club, alumni letterwinners supporting the student athlete, invite friends of Maryland to make a commitment.

Terp Voices

The JP Sports/Maryland Radio Network brings Terrapin fans the most comprehensive coverage of Maryland basketball via a 17-station network covering two states and the District of Columbia.

The flagship station of the network is Baltimore's WBAL (1090 AM), which produces the broadcasts and feeds the signal to Terp fans across the state of Maryland, and into Pennsylvania and the District. In Washington D.C., WRC (980 AM) again this season will serve as the Terps' carrier in the nation's capital.

Each game, play-by-play announcer Johnny Holliday and color commentator Greg Manning set up the action with an informative pre-game show, provide special analysis during halftime and post-game shows and bring complete tip-off-to-final buzzer game action. Head Coach Gary Williams is heard every game in a taped pre-game show and his post-game comments are aired live immediately after each game.

Johnny Holliday

Play-by-Play

One of the most recognizable personalities involved with Maryland athletics is Johnny Holliday, who will be calling the Terps' basketball play-by-play for his 14th consecutive season this year.

Holliday does a masterful job of descibing the action and relating the drama of major college basketball like few others in his profession. And that smooth, professional delivery can be heard on more than just Terrapin games.

Holliday has served as an ABC Radio studio host at the last six Olympic Games, covering both the summer and winter games in 1984, 1988 and 1992. He also hosts a daily morning and afternoon show broadcast nationally on the ABC Information Radio Network.

His play-by-play skills are featured on both Maryland basketball and football broadcasts and also are featured on several televised games by Jefferson-Pilot and Home Team Sports. This season, Holliday will continue is work as the host of the Gary Williams Show, the coach's weekly half-hour television show.

In 1991, Holliday extended his commitments to the University of Maryland, by joining the athletic department on a full-time basis. He serves as master of ceremonies at most Terp functions and handles several speaking and celebrity engagements on behalf of the University.

Holliday and is wife, Mary Clare, are the parents of three daughters, Kellie, 32, Tracie, 29, and Moira, 14, a junior high school basketball star and devoted Terps fan.

Greg Manning

Color Commentary

Greg Manning performs in two capacities in Cole Field House. During basketball season, he joins Johnny Holliday on the Maryland Radio Network broadcasts. He is in his sixth year as the Terps' hoops analyst.

When not courtside at Cole he occupies an office in the Field House as the director of the University's M-Club, the lettermen's association. Manning accepted the M-Club post in 1991 and now seems to be in constant motion as he develops the M-Club into a powerful fundraising source for the athletic department.

A Maryland graduate, Class of '81, Manning was the quintessential student-athlete. On the court, he ranked among the Atlantic Coast Conference's most productive point guards, earning All-Tournament honors at the 1980 ACC Tournament while leading Maryland to the regular season conference title. A four-year starter, Manning led three different Terp teams to post-season play.

Off the court, Manning was in 1981 an Academic All-American and a three-time Academic All-ACC pick, who earned a NCAA Post-Graduate Scholarship upon graduation.

Manning and his wife, Cathy, have a son, Greg, Jr., 7, and a daughter, Courtney, 3. Most home games, the Manning Clan can be found in seat's near Greg's broadcast position, enjoying all the Terps' basketball action.

Old Liners Bring SC Trophy North

By today's standards, the 1930-31 University of Maryland basketball team convened for its first practice at roughly midseason. In deference to the football team, on which no less than three of the basketball starters starred, Maryland was the last area team to begin practice that season, getting underway sometime shortly after Christmas. And, heaven forbid, if Coach Burton Shipley wanted to run any type of five-on-five scrimmage that first day, because his squad totaled only eight players.

"We will have a good team," Shipley told the Washington Post as practice commenced, "but unless our reserves come rapidly we'll be up against it for men to send in to take the place of the regulars."

Shipley's prediction was correct — the Old Liners, as Maryland was called back then, did have a very good team. His concern over depth, though, never proved to be a problem.

Maryland played the entire season with those eight players. A combination of a zone defense the Shipley used, which lessened the defensive burden, and a center jump after every basket offset the shortage of substitutes.

Despite its late season start, Maryland finished the regular season with a 14-4 record. Included in those 14 victories was a thrilling 33-31 overtime win against North Carolina, and a 32-24 shellacking of perennial power Duke.

The Southern Conference Tournament historically had been a disaster for Maryland, as the Old Liners, despite numerous expectations to the contrary, had never advanced past the first round of the tournament. Most of the players on the 1931 team new first-hand of Maryland's tournament frailty. In 1930, Maryland had been expected to compete for the conference crown, only to be upset by Kentucky in the first round. It was with this historical baggage that Shipley boarded his eight players on a train bound for Atlanta.

In the cozy confines of the Atlanta Auditorium — a converted theatre that served as the site of the Southern Conference Tournament each year — Maryland met LSU in the first round.

Behind 13 points from Bozey Berger and 10 from Ed Ronkin, Maryland defeated LSU 37-33. The Terps shot 35 percent from the field — a terrific total for the era — while limiting the Tigers to just 26 percent.

North Carolina began its quarterfinal game against Maryland impressively, as Tar Heel captain Artie Marpet nearly outscored the Old Liners himself in the first half. Marpet ended the half with seven points, to lead Carolina to a 16-11 edge at the intermission. Carolina had been up by as much as 13-1. But the second half proved to be dramatic.

Maryland's defense came alive and continually harrassed Carolina into poor, long-range shots. Not a single Tar Heel field goal attempt found its mark in the second half, as Maryland limited UNC to one point. Ronkin was the star of the zone defense, playing the middle and chasing the ball with abandon. Meanwhile Berger scored five second half points, including the game winner with under two minutes to play, and Maryland had advanced, 19-17.

In the semifinals, Maryland was pitted against the University of Georgia, the tournament's top seed, playing in its home state. To add further insentive to his Bulldogs, Georgia Coach Herman Stegeman announced his retirement, effective after the tournament, to his team just prior to the game. Behind Berger's 12 points — he was now being hailed as the Tournament's offensive star — Maryland cruised to a 26-25 upset win and sent Stegeman to his slightly premature retirement.

In the Championship Game, Maryland raced to an 18-7 halftime lead, but Kentucky came back in the second half and took the lead with little more than two minutes to play.

Then, as they had done throughout the tournament, Berger and Ronkin took over for Maryland. Ronkin assisted on Berger's basket that tied the score at 27, and after May rebounded a wild Kentucky free throw attempt, Ronkin passed a bullet to Berger who stuck the winning basket.

Maryland earned a 29-27 win, and the Southern Conference Championship trophy was sent north of North Carolina for the first time ever.

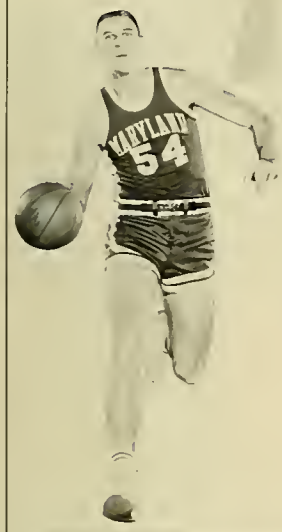
ACC CHAMPS



Terps Bring Home First ACC Title in 1958

There was an indication very early in the 1957-58 basketball season that the University of Maryland would be a very good team indeed. In the third game of the season, the Terps downed No. 1-ranked Kentucky, 71-62, in Cole Field House. Terrapin star Nick Davis calls it "the best game we ever played."

Davis' statement is arguable, but only because selecting the Terps "best" game of that season would stir quite a debate.

The Terps lost just one game at home that season, and were a fixture in the national Top 20. So was defending national champion North Carolina, N.C. State and Duke, and when the league convened in Raleigh, N.C. for the ACC Tournament, each of those three teams and the Terps all were ranked in the top 17.

Kent Baker, in his book Maryland Basketball: Red, White and Amen, wrote of the Terps' run through that tough 1958 ACC Tournament field this way:

With a 9-5 conference record, Maryland was seeded fourth in the tournament, and opened with Virginia. Though the Terps had had no trouble dispatching of the Cavaliers twice during the regular season, at the Tournament UVA proved more resistant. Virginia trailed by just five points at halftime, then rallied to tie the game at 65-all late. Finally, reserve Gene Danko's three-point play and Charlie McNeil's two free throws with 24 seconds to play iced the 70-66 Maryland victory.

Davis and McNeil were the stars for the Terps, combining for 46 points on 20 of 34 field goal shooting.

The win advanced the Terps against Duke, which had beaten Wake Forest. After the Terps roared to a 53-38 cushion, and victory seemed assured, Duke stormed back. In fact, the Blue Devils took the lead and thanks to a left-handed hook shot by McNeil — the only one of his career, Baker writes — the Terps forced overtime.

McNeil, who had a game-high 22 points, and Tom Young dominated the extra period and Maryland escaped with a 71-65 win, and the Terps became the first non-North Carolina school to advance to the Championship Game of the ACC Tournament.

In the title game, McNeil was whistled for his third foul early in the first half, and with their scoring star on the bench, the Terps looked on helplessly as UNC forged a 13-point lead. Ultimately down 34-27 at the half, the Terps seem to hit every shot they threw up in the second half (shooting 61 percent in the half), and quickly regained the advantage. McNeil exploded in the second half for 18 points and managed to not foul out of the game. Davis, too, scored well hitting for 16 points, while Al Bunge added 13 points and a dozen rebounds.

With North Carolina falling further behind, the Tar Heels began to foul, hoping the Terps torrid shooting — 61 percent from the field in the second half — would not include free throws. Reserve Bill Murphy was the player UNC decided to foul ... continually. And Murphy, continually, hit his freebies. Murphy was 11 of 14 from the line and finished with 19 points. For the game, Maryland was 40 of 52 from line, and won the game going away, 86-74.

Davis, who averaged 19.7 points for the tournament, was named as the MVP. He was joined on the All-Tournament Team by McNeil, whose 21.7 points-per-game average was generally hailed as the "best sophomore performance in the history of the tournament." Bunge was named to the second team All-Tournament squad.

NIT CHAMPS

Terps Enter Hoops Elite with 1972 NIT Title

The 1971-72 University of Maryland basketball season reversed more than a decade of disappointment. After the Terps' 1958 ACC Championship, Maryland went 14 years without again advancing to the conference tournament title game and it reached the semifinals only twice in that period.

But in the third year of Head Coach Lefty Driesell's reign, and on the strength of possibly the best sophomore class in major college basketball, the Terps of 1971-72 put Maryland back on the national hoops map to stay.

There was considerable anticipation about the 1971-72 Terps. The previous year, Driesell had brought one of the nation's strongest freshmen classes to Maryland — led by super front court players Tom McMillen, a prep All-America, and Len Elmore. Those two players proceeded to lead the 1970-71 freshmen team to an undefeated season. Much was expected of them in their first year of varsity eligiblilty, and neither the players nor the team disappointed.

McMillen lived up to his preseason All-America selection by leading the team in scoring in 27 of 32 games. McMillen set a then-school record for points in a season with 667. Elmore was fiercelss inside, averaging in double figures in points and rebounds. Jim O'Brien, Bob Bodell, Rich Porac, Jap Trimble and Darrell Brown all shared time in the limelight during the season.

Maryland went undefeated at home and finished 9-3 in the ACC. Seeded second in the ACC Tournament, the Terps got by Clemson and Duke before falling to North Carolina — the rubber match of a home-and-home regular season split with the Tar Heels — in the ACC Tournament Championship Game.

The loss eliminated Maryland from NCAA Tournament consideration, but the Terps had long since guaranteed themselves a spot in the NIT, and they entered the tournament as the favorite. The Terps were never seriously challenged, winning their four tournament games by an average of 15.8 points an outing.

McMillen, the eventual MVP of the tournament, was dominating from the start. He scored 22 points in Maryland's opening round win over St. Joseph's, and added 25 points and 16 rebounds — both game highs — against Syracuse in the second round.

The NIT semifinals featured Maryland, with its run and gun style, meeting Jacksonville, also a team that liked to get up and down the floor. The two teams combined to take 156 shots, and Maryland won the shootout, 91-77, behind McMillen's 25 points and 12 boards, and Elmore's 23 and 14.

After beating Syracuse and Jacksonville, Maryland's Championship Game meeting against Niagara was almost anticlimactic. Five Terps scored in double figures — led by McMillen and Bodell who had 19 points each — and the Terps cruised to a 100-69 win.

Bias Leads Terps to '84 ACC Title

There was plenty of pressure on the 1983-84 Maryland Terrapins. The season began with a No. 7 preseason national ranking, and the expectations kept rising from there. But at no point was there more pressure on the Terps and their head coach Lefty Driesell than as the team headed into the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament.

The 1984 ACC Tournament was Driesell's 15th as Maryland's head coach, and he had yet to lead Maryland to a title. On the eve of the Tournament, speaking to Washington Post reporter Mike Wilbon, he was philosophical about his Tournament record: "If the law of averages mean anything, we're a lock," Driesell mused.

While hardly a lock, the Terps were peaking as they headed to Greensboro Coliseum for the 32nd annual Classic. Maryland had won its final four ACC regular season games and opened the tournament with the No. 14 national ranking. Maryland's rather youthful team — Herman Veal and Ben Coleman were the only seniors who saw significant playing time — felt none of the pressure that their coach was undoubtedly enduring.

Said starting sophomore Len Bias to Wilbon the day before the tournament began: "This team has it all. But having it all isn't enough, we've got to do it all."

The Terps opened the ACC Tournament against N.C. State — the defending national champion and a team that had beaten Maryland in nine of its previous 10 ACC Tournament match-ups.

Coleman had 18 points to lead Maryland, but it took some clutch free throw shooting by freshman Keith Gatlin to secure the 69-63 win. Gatlin hit seven of nine free throws in the final 2:30 of the game, and afterwards sounded almost annoyed that State had continued to send him to the line. "I've always thought I was a pretty good foul shooter, so I don't know why they kept fouling me," said Gatlin, who was the only freshman on the floor when the game ended.

The win set up a semifinal showdown with Wake Forest. The Terps looked unstoppable for much of the game, leading by 13 at the half. With just four minutes to go in the game, the Terps owned an 11-point advantage. Then the wheels fell off. A combination of turnovers and missed free throws allowed the Deacons back in the game. Wake closed to one, 65-64, with 28 seconds to play. After a time out, Wake tried desperately to foul, but could not get a referee's whistle until four seconds remained. When Bias hit one of two free throws, the Terps had guaranteed themselves at least overtime, and when Delaney Rudd's desperation heave at the buzzer missed, the Terps had a 66-64 victory and a berth in the tournament final. Coleman and Adrian Branch led Maryland with 16 points each.

Maryland met an even-younger Duke team in the finals. The Blue Devils had upset top-ranked North Carolina, 77-75, to advance to the final. That game, however, took its toll on the Devils. Bias turned in one of the most remarkable single-game performances of his career — scoring 26 points on 12 of 17 field goal shooting — and a 2-3 zone defense spoiled any hope of back-to-back Duke upsets.

Bias scored 12 points during a 24-3 Maryland run early in the second half to give the Terps a lead they would not relinquish. At the same time, Duke's Johnny Dawkins (22 points) missed his first eight shots of the second half, and the Terps cruised to a 74-62 win and their first ACC title since 1958. Bias was a unanimous choice for Tournament MVP.

GENE SHUE

ON SHUE — Was the Terp's first high-profile basketball star ... earned Converse and Helms Foundation All-America honors as a senior, when he averaged 21.8 points a game ... owns the third best single game scoring total in school history, hitting for 40 points against Wake Forest in the 1959 Southern Conference Tournament ... was selected as the Most Valuable Player of the tournament ... was the school record holder in career scoring until 1974 when fellow All-American Tom McMillen assumed that role ... still holds the No. 10 slot on the team's career list ... enjoyed a successful career as a head coach in the NBA with Washington Bullets, Philadelphia 76ers and Los Angeles Clippers. He now is the general manager of the 76ers.

CHARLES "BUCK" WILLIAMS

ON WILLIAMS — An outstanding scorer and extraordinary rebounder, Williams earned All-America honors after a junior season — his last in college ball — in which he averaged 15.6 points and 11.7 rebounds a game ... he is the No. 3 rebounder in Maryland history with 928 career boards, third only to fellow All-American Len Elmore and Derrick Lewis ... his career average of 10.9 rebounds per game is the second best average in school history ... he was an equally adept shooter, averaging in double figures each of his three seasons and registering the school's best-ever field goal percentage ... his 61.5 percent prowess from the field is the school career record ... led the ACC in rebounding as a freshman in 1978-79, was third in 1979-80 and was second in 1980-81 ... was a member of the 1980 United States Olympic Team that did not compete in the Moscow Games ... applied for hardship placement in the NBA college draft and was selected as the No. 3 player overall by the New Jersey Nets ... he now plays for the Portland Trailblazers.

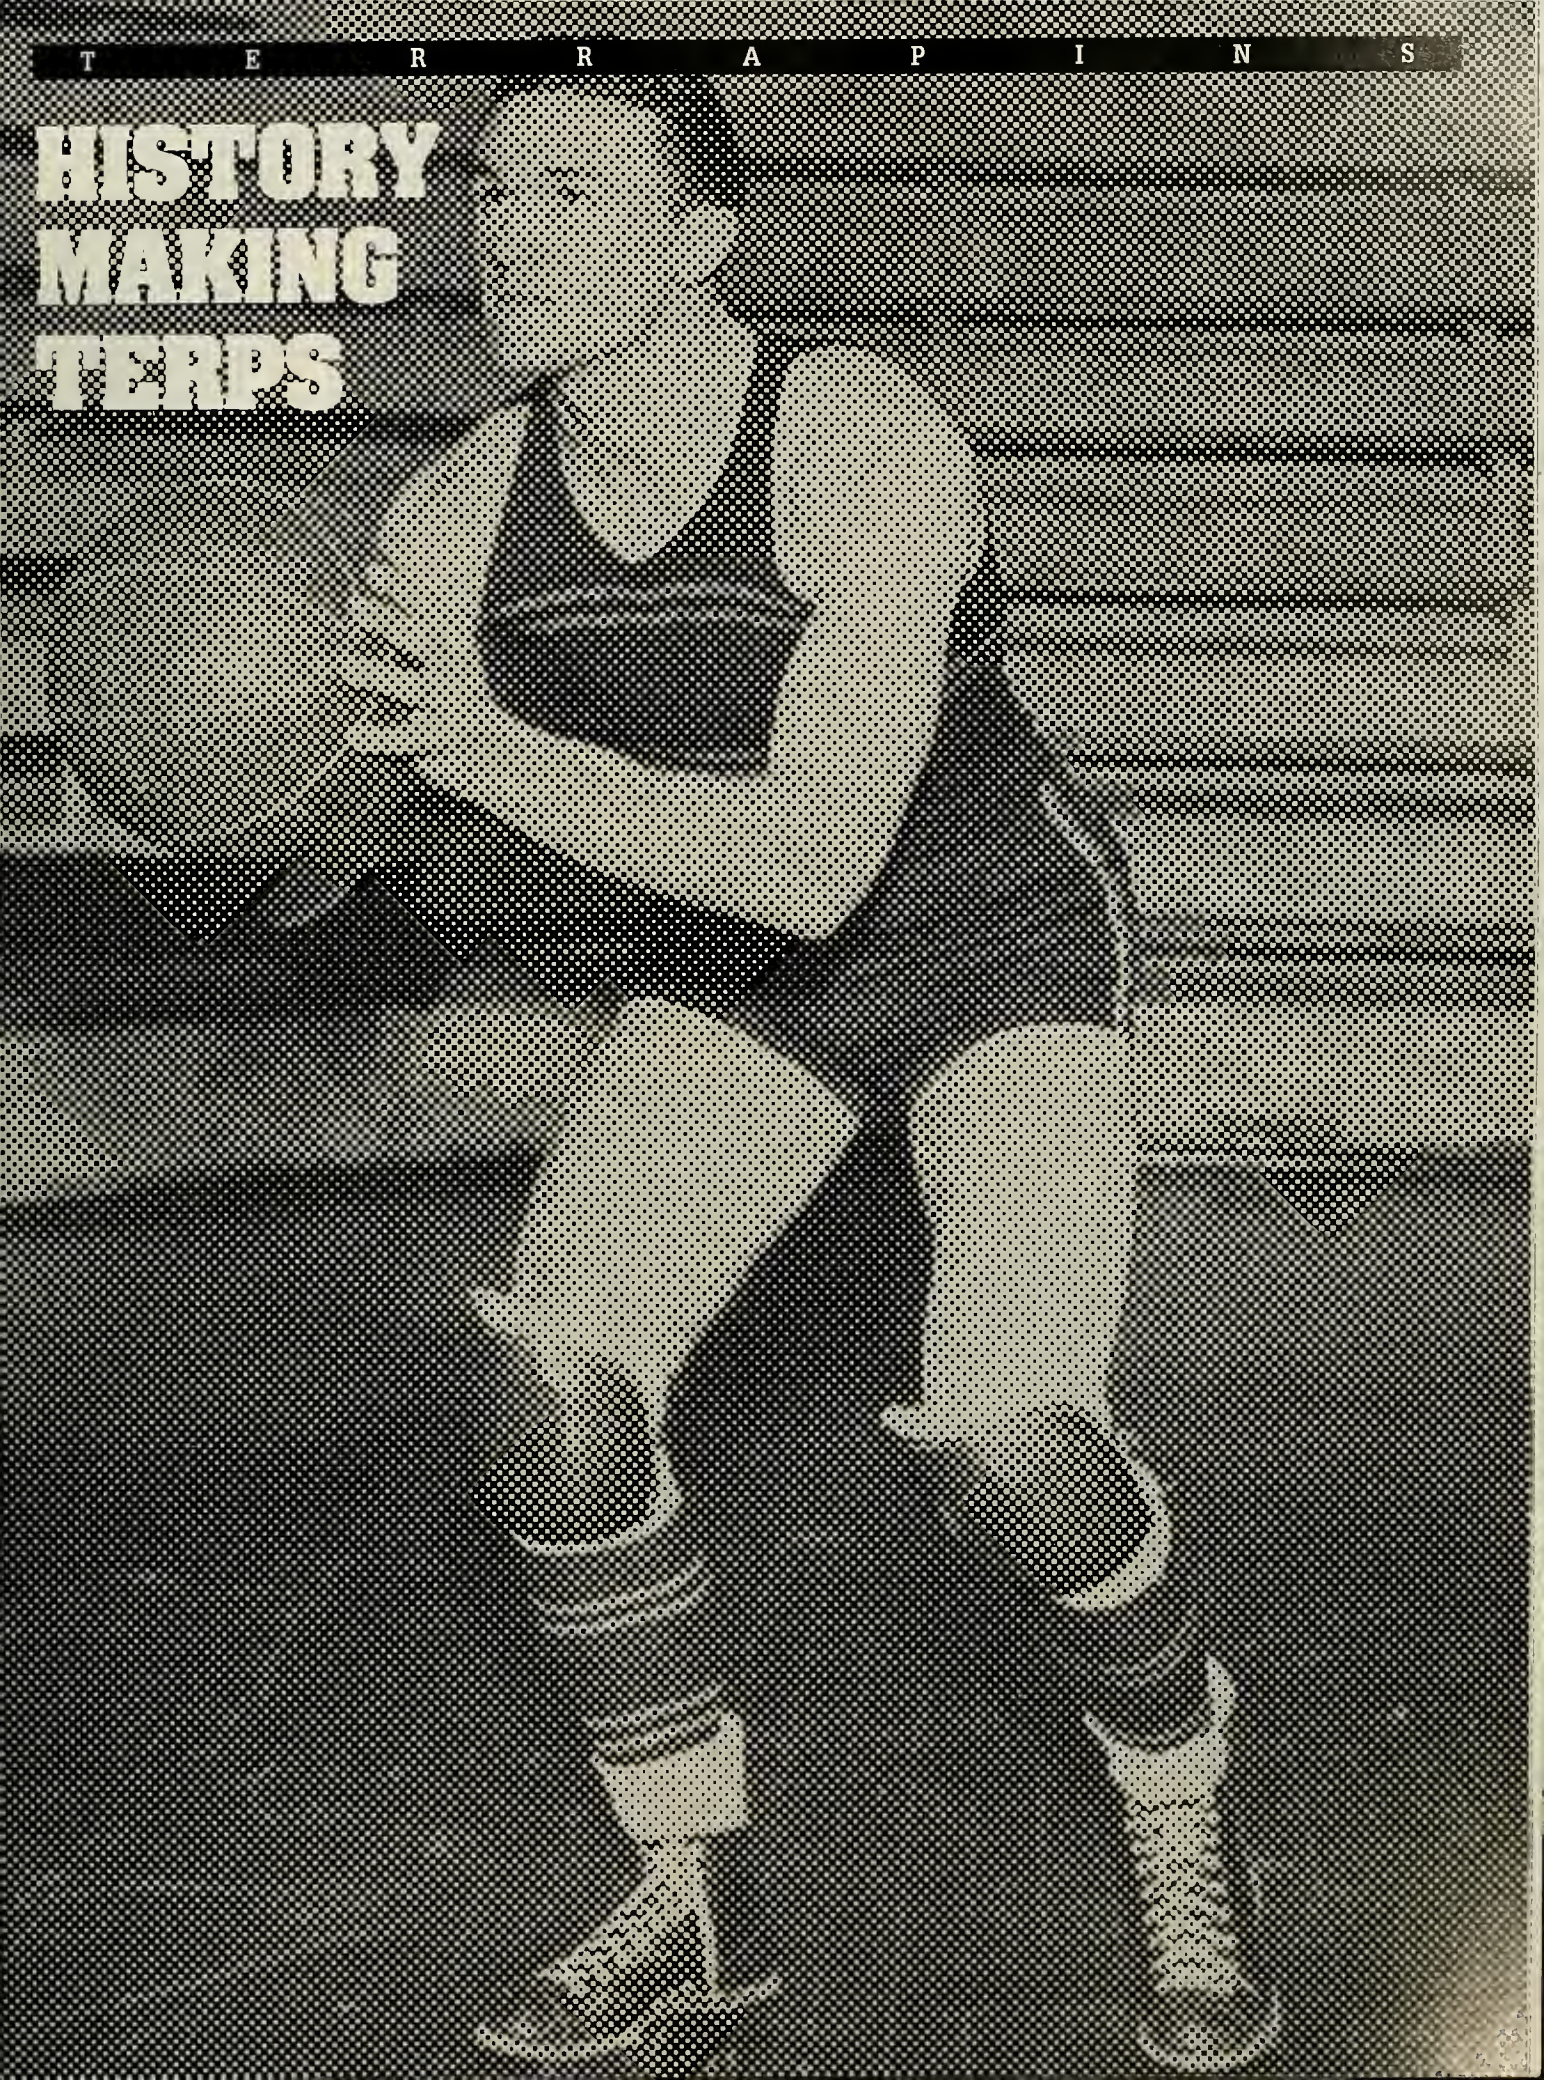
HISTORY MAKING TERPS



TERP OLYMPIANS

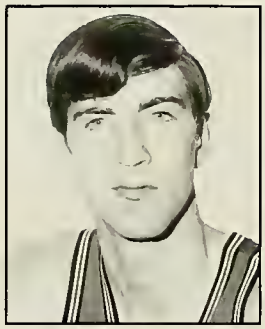
The ultimate individual reward in amateur athletics is to represent his or her country in international competition. And with the right timing, talent and dedication, international competition can mean participation in an Olympiad. Three Maryland basketball players have been fortunate enough to represent the United States at such a level.

1980

Buck Williams (standing, fourth from right) was Maryland's representative on the 1980 U.S. Olympic Team. Although they never got a chance to compete in Olympic competition because of the U.S. boycott, the '80 squad still is considered one of the strongest U.S. teams ever selected for international competition.

Buck Williams: The Terps' most recent Olympian.

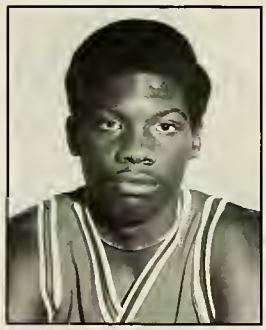
TOM McMILLEN



1972 U.S. Olympian
Silver Medalist

Maryland's No. 5 career scorer and cornerstone of the highly successful Terp teams from 1972-74, McMillen represented the U.S. in 1972, when Coach Henry Iba's team earned a Silver Medal. An Oxford Scholar who spent 10 seasons in the NBA, McMillen was elected Congressman of Maryland's 4th District in 1986.

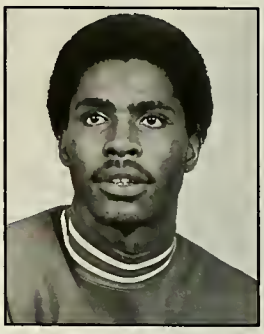
STEVE SHEPPARD



1976 U.S. Olympian
Gold Medalist

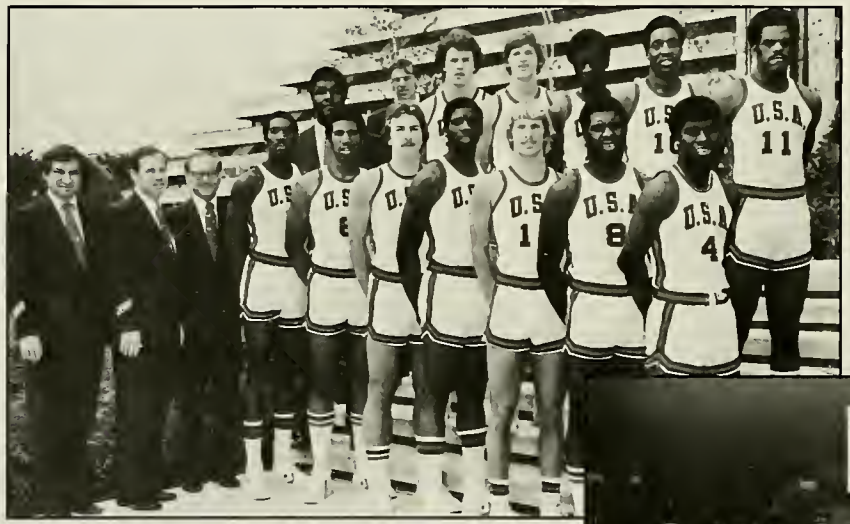
Known as the "Bear" to Maryland fans for his ferocious play on three nationally ranked teams during the mid-70's, Sheppard played for North Carolina coach Dean Smith's gold-medal winning 1976 Olympic squad. Sheppard helped the United States to a clean sweep of competition in the Montreal Games, and later played for the Chicago Bulls in the NBA.

BUCK WILLIAMS



1980 U.S. Olympian

Maryland's No. 3 career rebounder, Williams was a member of the 1980 Olympic Team. That squad, along with all other U.S. teams did not participate in that summer's Moscow Olympics, but won four of six games against various NBA All-Star teams and defeated the 1976 gold-medal winning American team. Williams currently plays for the Portland Trailblazers of the NBA.



1976

Steve Sheppard (middle of front row) of Maryland was one of seven ACC players on the 1976 Gold-medal USA Team which was coached by the conference's own Dean Smith.

Tom McMillen (#13) of Maryland averaged 14 points per game for the 1972 U.S. Olympic Team. The '72 squad was coached by the legendary Hank Iba (standing, far right).

ATHLETIC HALL OF FAME

The Athletic Hall of Fame was founded in 1982 by the M Club Foundation as a joint project of the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics and the M Club. The first committee was organized by then Athletic Director Dick Dull and consisted of outstanding Terrapin athletes and coaches Jack Faber (Class of 1926), Tom Fields (Class of 1942), Al Heagy (Class of 1930), Jim Kehoe (Class of 1940) and Jack Scarbath (Class of 1952). Arthur L. Kramer (Class of 1942), a letterwinner in tennis, was particularly important in the founding of the Hall of Fame.

Among the qualifications for nominees are being out of school at least 10 years, having earned a minimum of one varsity letter, and if not an undergraduate athlete, being a Department of Intercollegiate Athletics staff member for at least 15 years. Nominees will be judged on personal conduct in life and their contributions to the high ideals of intercollegiate athletics.
